Reflecting Back

Farewell to this old building, here on Buc-Boulevard,
Where mates were oh so many, and teachers oh so hard.
With classrooms filled with faces that we grew to love and trust.
And everlasting friendships that will never fade or rust.
Good-bye to this old familiar place we've grown to know so very well,
The same old routes, the same old lockers, that ringing homeroom bell.
The classes we skipped, the tests we failed, the notes we passed,
Are only mere reminders that four years flew by too fast.
Our awaited graduation is so soon, its almost here,
But the ramps seem much more comfortable,
The school seems much more dear,
Farewell to these old hallways where memories that we made,
Will allow us to reflect upon our days at O.H.S.
With the sharpness of a blade.

Reflections of the Year in Sports

Sports, often called the "Pride of Oswego" is an integral part of high school life. Most Oswego teams competed in scholastic competitions while some teams like the Girls Varsity Soccer Team and the Boys Varsity Golf team went on to compete in sectional play. What ever the final outcome was, all can be content that they gave their best.

In every sport there is some element of team work. Everyone on any particular team strives to do their best in order to beat their opponent, whether that opponent be an individual or a team. In some sports teammates must move in concert with one another, while in others the individual is required to do well in order for the team to excel. No matter if the sport is hockey or golf the essence of teamwork is necessary for the team the achieve the high standards one expects from Oswego High.

School spirit marks Buc weekend

School spirit was intense during this year's Buc Weekend festivities. Even a loss to perennial arch-rival Fulton was unable to dampen the spirits of the Bucs and their supporters throughout the school and community. Much of this spirit was the result of planning and hard work by the officers and members of the Junior Class.

As always, a popular feature was a series of days leading up to Buc Weekend itself. Special days included Hat and Shades Day, Red Raider Traitor Day and Blue and White Day. In students' minds, however, there was a tie for most popular day between Nerd Day and Punk vs. Prep Day.

On Nerd Day the visual senses were assaulted by plaid pants, bright, obnoxious shirts and wide, striped ties. Bright orange hunting hats only added to the clothing madness. Tape on glasses was a common fixture of the day.

Punk outpaced Preppy as mini skirts and cut-off shirts outnumbered tweed jackets, knit ties and skirts. Those preppies who were on the scene, however, made their haughty presence known to the punkers.

There are those who would tell us that school spirit is a thing of the past, something left in the 1950's. The Buc spirit showed, however, that school spirit is alive and well and living at OHS.

Student life

"Student life" is a phrase with a variety of different meanings to many different people. It would take every year or our life as a student to define it fully. Student life. Fabulous, exciting, fun, outstanding, wonderful, extraordinary! Must we go on? Student life is a portion of our high school years that each person will carry on forever. From Buc Weekend with Spirit week; to the Prom with summer approaching, excitement is always mounting. Of course if you are a non-participant you can spot the opportunities you are missing.

In its fifth year of existence, Student Council has taken on some familiar objectives as well as some new ones. The Student Council operated under the leadership of President Odie Van Opdorp, Vice-President Joanna Nix, Secretary Julie Kraus, and Treasurer Mike Musuccia. In October the entire group met to establish and review possible goals for this school year. The prime objective established for this year was the raising of funds to help increase the number and value of scholarships offered to seniors.

The two main fund raisers were the 'Morp" and the Winter Sports Festival.

Held in late February, the Morp was intended as an opposite version of the Prom. The girl was supposed to ask the boy, jeans were the expected attire, and appropriate dinner plans included places known for "haute cuisine," such as McDonalds, Burger King and Friendly's.

The Second Annual Winter Sports Festival was held in early March. The four sports that provided the entertainment were basketball, volleyball, indoor soccer and wiffle ball. The two day event was devised to allow serious athletes to unwind between seasons while allowing not so serious athletes to compete in an organized format. Although the Winter Sports Festival was created as a way for Student Council to make money, it also provided an activity that helped to enliven the lull that exists during the heart of the school year.

Other familiar objectives that the council included the re-establishment of a senior lounge, ways to handle problems created by the Girls Powder Puff Football game, and further revisions of the new ranking system.

One important objective which the council wanted to undertake was the formation of a local Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) chapter. This group would help students become more aware of the problem of drunks on the road, as well as how to deal with it. During the course of the year an investigation was undertaken by Joana Nix and Evelyn Earnhart regarding SADD. Specifically, they sought to determine how SADD chapters are organized in other schools and also how effective they have been. The established goal was to have a chapter in operation by the end of this school year.

The tasks undertaken by Student Council depict a serious-minded group of students. However, the emphasis of its concern is placed upon making ours a better, safer, more enjoyable school and community in which to live and work.

Sailing Club active

"Sailing: the fine art of getting wet and becoming ill while slowly going nowhere at a great expense." That is what sailing is all about, according to Commodore Joseph Rotolo.

The 1984-85 season was filled with adventurous activities, including sailing on cruising yachts with the Lightning Fleet and having picnics. All events were the result of time well spent in planning and execution.

The main event for the club that topped the season off was the sail from Kingston, Ontario, back to Oswego, aboard the Providence. Several members had the honor of sailing on the tall ship. Members arrived in Kingston on Thursday, spent the night in port, and set sail for Oswego Friday morning.

The season closed with the first annual graduation dinner. Eleven members received skipper ratings and five others received outstanding membership awards. Six adults were also credited for their help.

Thanks to the addition of personnel and to the fleet's growth, the club has grown greatly since last year. Warm weather will find the SS Oswego on the bounding main with the Commodore at the helm.

Skiers on the slopes

The winter season brings tremendous amounts of snow and many dreary days for some, but for many, snow brings the sense of freedom and accomplishment one gains from downhill skiing.

For nearly one hundred ski club members, 1985 was a year for lots of snow, excellent ski conditions and for some a whole new experience. Seven Wednesday night trips were taken to Labrador Mountain Ski Center where everyone from beginner to expert enjoyed the snow and the thrill of rushing downhill on a slim pair of skis.

Arrangements for transportation and use of the Labrador facilities were completed by Mrs. Barbara Mercier, advisor. Accompanying Mrs. Mercier as faculty chaperones were Mr. Shambo, Mr. Rotolo, Mr. Myles, Mrs. Deeb, Mr. Swanson, and the bus drivers.

Thespians prosper

Since its inception, the OHS Drama Club has generally been an active, popular club. Under the direction of Mrs. Eve Phillips, the club has produced many shows and has gained much respect in recent years.

The 1984 fall production was Thornton Wilder's "Our Town". The play ran for two nights and was well received.

At Christmas, the group visited the Harr-Wood Nursing Home to entertain the residents there with readings, carols, and skits related to the holiday. The club also travelled to area elementary schools and delighted its audiences with children's classics, including "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "The Gingerbread House."

In the spring the drama club competed against other high school drama goups in the Syracuse drama competition. They performed "The Valiant." The spring production included both "The Valiant" and "The Lottery," based upon the Shirley Jackson short story.

Crew mans theater

The Oswego High School Theatre of Performing Arts is a theatre which is primarily student run.

Under the supervision of Mr. David Sterio the tech crew is made up of approximately fifteen members. It is responsible for the technical requirements for all musical, dramatic, dance and other performances conducted in the theater. Students receive credit for their work based on the amount of time they devote.

The tech crew has provided for several high school productions, including the Junior Variety Show, Senior Class Nite and this year's production by the Musical Theater group of "Guys and Dolls." In addition the tech crew has provided staging for visiting professional productions such as the "J.F. Kennedy Center Production of Peter Rabbit" and the "Carte Blance Mime Co."

The tech crew welcomes anyone who is interested in working backstage in the theater. The primary requirement for joining is that one has to have enough free time to put a good amount of effort into their work.

French Club

According to club advisor Miss Piasecki, the purpose of the French Club is "to learn more about French customs and lifestyles." To do this, plans were made to travel to Montreal in the spring. The club conducted various sales and raffles to raise the necessary funds. The officers of this year's club, which has approximately twelve members, are president Katie Reitano, vice-president Sarah Stock, treasurer Theresa Readling, and secretaries Brandi Vona and Reem Sbaih.

German Club

This summer, the O.H.S. German Club will undertake a major project, an exchange program with a German high school. Shortly after school ends, approximately twenty-five members of the club will travel to Frankenberg, West Germany where they will stay with the families of German high school students. During their three week stay, the Oswego students will live and travel as a member of their host family. After their stay is over, the Oswego students will return home, bringing with them their host German students. In Oswego, the German students will then have the same opportunity to experience another culture that our students had in Germany. Although several group activities are planned in both countries, much of the students' time will be spent with the host family. This total immersion in another culture is a feature that club advisor Mrs. Pratt feels cannot be found in regular travel programs.

Although the club does not pay for the students' airfare, there are many other costs involved, including the chaperone's airfare, and the cost of the various group activities planned. To meet these costs, the club undertook a major fundraising campaign. This included an advent calendar sale, a pizza sale, several bake sales and raffles, and a rock concert featuring the band "The Feel."

The club, which includes President Dan Funk and Vice-President Gamin Bartle, worked in cooperation with a very active parents' organization to make the trip possible. Because of the enthusiasm of Mrs. Pratt, the students, and the parents, the trip promises to be a memorable experience for everyone involved.

Language

On February 19, for the first time ever, the O.H.S. language fair was held at night in the cafeteria. Whereas the fair used to take place during the school day with only a few classes participating at a time, this year all the classes were able to meet at the same time. Because of this, the cafeteria was virtually filled with students and parents, a fact that both surprised and pleased the language teachers and department chairperson Dr. Woodall.

The students prepared a wide variety of foods representative of the different cultures they studied. Classes were also responsible for presenting skits or other types of performances. These ranged from the fourth year Latin students' dramatic readings to the third year German class's slightly ridiculous version of Hansel and Gretl, entitled "Gretl und Gretl." Although a few of the skits needed some refinement, this lack of preparation often resulted in some very humorous situations.

Despite the "problem" of overcrowding, most everyone involved considered the night a success. As the evening drew to a close, plans were already underway for the 1986 language fair, due in large measure to the positive reception accorded this year's festivities.

Latin Club

Through the Latin Club, Latin students at O.H.S. are given the opportunity to learn more about the classical Roman language and culture than they normally would in class.

The major activity of the club is the annual Cena Romana, Roman Banquet. To raise the necessary funds for this event, club members sold pocket calenders. The banquet was held on January 21 in the O.H.S. cafeteria. All club members were dressed authentically with the first year students acting as slaves. The banquet centered around the wedding of Paulina Maior, played by Penny Babcock, and Decimus Maximus, played by Neelesh Shah. The ceremony was conducted by Pontifex Maximus Jose Garcia. With members enthusiastically playing their parts, the night was a success.

The club's advisor is the O.H.S. Latin teacher and language department chairperson Dr. Natalie Woodall. This year's officers were Consuls Monica Shah and Paula Toffolo, Scriba Cheryl Goldstein, Quaestor Neelesh Shah, and Aediles Heather Bruce, Richard Owens, Christopher Perkins, and Desiree Ingram.

Spanish Club

The O.H.S. Spanish Club undertook a wide variety of activities this year to give its members further knowledge of the cultures of Spanish-speaking countries. The Club travelled to Syracuse to see the play "Los Tunos". In Syracuse, they also sampled Mexican food at Dos Amigos, a restaurant specializing in Mexican cuisine. To fund these activities, the club held several fund-raising activities including a candy bar sale. This money also went toward the club's trip to Darien Lake. The club's advisor is O.H.S. Spanish teacher Miss Piasecki. The club's officers are President Michelle Smith, Vice-President Rachel Torba, Treasurer Elaine Hanley, and Secretary Alicia McDonough.

Activities at O.H.S.

O.H.M.A.C. flies

This year marked the second year of existence for the O.H.S. Model Airplane Club, otherwise known as OHMAC. Its purpose is to give its members an opportunity to build and fly model airplanes. Under the direction of club advisor Mr. Shoemaker, members of the club took part in such activities as hands-on demonstrations of the construction of model aircraft and held several flight sessions. This year's officers were President Christopher M. Smith, Ist Vice-President Dan Tryon, 2nd Vice-President Ed Hawkins, Treasurer Jerry Taylor, and Secretary Chuck Hewitt.

Wrestlers meet needs

The O.H.S. wrestling club was started eight years ago and remains an active organization. According to the club's advisor, Mr. Bock, the purpose of the club is to raise money for sending wrestlers to tournaments and for buying wrestling gear and video equipment. The club is open to all high school students interested in supporting Oswego wrestling.

This year the club had over thirty members, including President Doug Armstrong, Vice-President Pat Purtell, and Secretary Kelly Elen. The year's activities included a pizza sale, a two day open tournament, and an awards picnic.

Art garners awards

Although the O.H.S. Art Club itself was not as active as in previous years, several individual members of the club entered local art competitions, and one, club president Paul Vanouse, did especially well.

In early February, Paul Vanouse received word that he was a Blue Ribbon winner in the prestigious MONY Scholastic Art Competition. The competition, open to all central New York art students, included the areas of photography, sculpture, drawing, painting, and jewelry. His winning entry, entitled "The Dancing Politician", was a mixed-media work which featured an African dancer on a background of famous world leaders. To create this, Paul used acrylic paints, markers, beads, and photographs. After receiving his award, Paul sent his work to be judged in a national competition.

After high school, Paul would like to attend either The Cooper Union or Oberlin College to study art. He hopes to be a successful free-lance artist, and, judging by his accomplishments thus far, has a very good chance of doing just that.

Soc Club helps people

The O.H.S. Sociology Club undertook a variety of activities this past year. The purpose of these activities was to help people both in the community and overseas, and to learn more about sociology. The club held several bake sales and raffles to benefit the drought-stricken areas of Africa. Members also visited area nursing homes. The club invited several guest speakers to discuss various aspects of sociology with the class. Club members also took a field trip to the Oswego County Jail. Ideally, club advisor Mr. Ciappa would like to see the club raise enough money to take a trip to New York City sometime in the near future. The club has no officers, as it functions primarily as a project of Mr. Ciappa's sociology class.

Lib/AV checks in and out

There are many clubs at OHS which, although small in numbers, play an important role in the school's daily activities. The Library/AV club is such an organization. With only 14 members, including President Lou Gilmore, Vice-President and Secretary Debbie Pierce, and Treasurer Denise Cook, the Library/AV club serves various purposes.

One function of the Library/AV club is to improve library/AV service through the use of its' members as student aides. It also provides its members with work experience and stimulates interest in reading. This past year, the club's activities included writing book reviews, constructing displays, and choosing books for library use. In the future the club plans to hold writing contests and to focus more on literary study.

Anyone who wishes to join the Library/AV club may, the sole requirement being an interest in the library/AV area.

Variety Show '84

"Junior Night Live" was the theme for the 1984 Junior Variety Show. "Junior Night Live" ran for three nights in the Oswego Theatre of the Performing Arts and was the most successful Variety Show in the history of OHS. Thanks to the efforts of four dedicated Chairpersons, Mary Carroll, Kim Nosky, Shari Sincavage, and Stephanie Viertel, the three night show, which played to enthusiastic, sold-out crowds earned a record box-office take and, in the opinion of many, was among the most entertaining of recent Variety Shows.

The evening was hosted by the "Debonaire" David Hilton, the "Sexy" Charla Janice, the "Sparkling" Meg Loschiavo and the "Beautiful" Monica Shah. Such acts as "The Cavity Creeps", "The Fruit of the Loom Gang", and "Henry Kandt's Flying Circus" kept the audience laughing while bands such as "Prezence", "US", and "The Feel" kept it rocking.

The climax of the entertainment extravanganza came with the traditional Junior Chorus Line which danced to "What A Feeling" from the movie "Flashdance."

As future generations of OHS Juniors reflect back upon the Variety Show put on by the Class of '85, they undoubtedly will use it as a benchmark against which to measure their own efforts.

Prom memorable and different

The Junior Prom held on May 18, 1984, proved to be a memorable one. The theme "Follow You, Follow Me" was demonstrated by the hand painted murals of silouhettes of couples highlighted by glitter and colorful backgrounds. These were the creation of Evelyn Earnhart and Meg Loschiavo.

In breaking with tradition, the class of '85 dared to be different from any other proceeding class by moving the location from Leighton School gym to Wine Creek Inn. The Junior class felt that it would be more elegant than the gym at Leighton School. They voted on it in their homerooms and came out with an amazing 287 to 14 for Wine Creek Inn.

Under the supervision of Mr. Mirabito and Mr. Runeari; chairpersons Darlene Barilla, Mary Carrol, Stephanie Viertel and Chris Pilon organized the prom by choosing the appropriate decorations, such as multicolored balloons, theme glasses, and table arrangements.

The highlight of the evening was when Missy Barlow handed down her crown to Renee Beshures, Prom Queen for 1984. Renee was then escorted on to the dance floor by Tim Snyder. "Request" performed a solo dance for Renee and Tim.

Throughout the evening "Request" played a variety of music that suited everyone's taste, ranging from rock to pop music.

If a prom is intended as a once in a lifetime memory, certainly that memory will follow all who attended Prom '84.

Buc Weekend '85

Spirit week, with all its enthusiasm, proved to be fun for the entire student body. Although the football game with Oswego's arch-rival, Fulton, did not match our expectations for the week's activities, spirit week proved to be a real success.

During the week, the student body was asked to show how much spirit they really possessed by dressing in a style intended to increase spirit every day of the week. Hat and Shades day, Punk vs. Prep day, Nerd day, Raider Trader day and the traditional Blue-n-White day helped make Spirit Week enjoyable.

In addition to the various styles of dress, there was a variety of events which helped get the students and teachers psyched up for the big game. Included among the activities were the traditional parade, in which students decorated their cars and rode down Bridge Street, the bonfire and the pep rally.

Buc Weekend did not stop after the football game. "Foam Duck" entertained us Saturday night at the Buc Weekend Dance. The highlight of the dance was the crowning of Anna Bowman and Tom Pullen as Buc Queen and King to end the Buc Weekend festivities.

King joins queen: New tradition born

The Class of 1986 began a new tradition for the 1984 Buc Weekend. Instead of choosing only a Queen, they decided to have both a King and a Queen.

The first royal pair to be chosen at OHS were Anna Bowman and Tom Pullen. When asked how they felt about being a part of the new tradition both were pleased. "It makes me feel good that we will go down in history and to know that when people ask who were the first King and Queen they will say our names," says Anna. (Whether or not the occasion is mementous enough to warrant a place in the history books remains to be seen, however.) Being the first King at OHS, Tommy feels honored. "I'm proud to represent the school as the first King in Buc history and I'm glad that it was me instead of the expected 'athletic populars'."

Both feel that the idea of King and Queen is a move for the better. To be sure, it is probably a reflection of the changing times. In the future, the selection of a royal couple will be seen as a tradition to be continued.

Pleased is not the word for how King Thomas I and Queen Anna I felt. Both show pride in what they have done and feel it is a great memory of high school.

Varied choral program at OHS

The choral program at Oswego High School is divided into two areas. Under the direction of Mr. Joesph Crisafulli, it consists of the Symphonic Choir and the Select Choir. Both groups perform at the annual Christmas concert in December and the Seniors' concert held in May and pays recognition to the graduating Seniors. Members of the Select Choir are admitted to this group on the basis of their progress as members of the Symphonic Choir organization.

Mr. Crisafulli and the Choral program also produce the spring musical each year. This year's production, "Guys and Dolls", was opened to the entire student body. Sets and costumes were flown in from New York and Mr. Ron Medici choreographed the production.

Choral students at OHS also excell on their own. This year OHS had the largest number of All-County Choir participants in its history. The particapants were Sopranos Anke Baake, Sonja Schwartz, Joanna Nix; Altos Charla Janice, Sue Funk, Marie Beshures, Evelyn Earnhart, Jeannine Pittenger, Bridgette Sweich; Tenor David Howard, and Bassess John O'Conner and T.J. Bandla. Charla Janice also particapated in the 1984 All-State Womens Choir at The Concord Hotel in Monticello, New York. Each of these vocalists was chosen on the basis of individual performance and demonstrated ability to sing and, importantly, to read music.

Four major organizations comprise the OHS instrumental music program: Symphonic Band, Jazz Ensemble, Marching Band and Wind Ensemble. Through participation in these organizations, students gain an appreciation for a variety of music, develop self-discipline and enjoy unique experiences unknown to many of their fellows.

By far the largest, and perhaps most well-known, instrumental group is the Marching Band. 175 members strong, the Marching Bucs play in the Independence Day parade, at various civic functions and at all home football games.

On September 29, 1984, the Marching Bucs hosted the Pageant of Champions field show at Leighton Field. Twelve bands from around New York State participated in the show this year, making it the largest one of its kind in the state.

In November, the Marching Bucs took part in the New York State Field Band Association competition at the Carrier Dome. They placed sixth in competition.

The Symphonic Band, with 120 members, performed in four concerts during the school year. Several of its members tried out for and were chosen to participate in the Senior High All-County Band.

The most select instrumental group is the Wind Ensemble. Selection for this group depends upon the student's demonstrated musical and technical skills. Music ranges from classical to modern compositions.

Wind Ensemble performed in four concerts during the year. In addition, in conjunction with the meeting of the New York State Band Directors Association in Syracuse in March, they performed in the Festival of Bands at West Genesee Senior High School. As part of their Festival performance, they were under the direction of Carl St. Clair of the University of Michigan. They also performed "Images of Song and Dance" while under the direction of its composer, Anthony Iannaccone.

Members of the newest organization, Jazz Ensemble, study and perform America's true claim to musical fame, the jazz idiom. Music ranges from the Big Band sound to contemporary fusion rock. The group, which rehearses only during the winter and spring months, conducted its annual concert in May. Additionally, several performances were scheduled throughout the community during the spring.

No strangers to travel, the instrumental musicians were "on the road, again" in April. The entire complement of groups participated in the Orange Blossom Festival in Orlando, Florida. Beside taking in some of the tourist attractions in the Orlando area, the groups participated in competition performances against other musical groups from high schools across the United States.

Most students agree that participation in any or all of the instrumental groups is demanding. Fellow musicians and the directors, Mr. Lisk and Mr. Joseph, expect everyone to perform to the very best of his ability at all times. It is also agreed, however, that the ultimate reward for meeting these demands, comes not only in the opportunities to travel, meet new people and see new places, but also in the knowledge that comes to one from having completed a difficult composition successfully.

The Buccaneer Bulletin a member of the Empire State Scholastic Press Association, is published by the students of the Oswego High School, 2 Buccaneer Blvd., Oswego, New York 13126. Opinions expressed are those of the students and do not necessarily reflect those of the administration or the advisors.

Technology aids newspaper growth

The Buccaneer Bulletin has become a highly advanced publication over the past year. With the new $86,000.00 typesetting equipment the paper has been able to broaden its horizons and expand its capabilities. The thirty member staff was able to publish more issues this year than in any previous year and published a literary magazine displaying creative writing, photography and art work produced by students.

Prior to this year, members of the newspaper staff were responsible for the preparation in school of art and copy for publication. The actual task of printing the newspaper was carried out under contract by a printing concern in Fulton. This year, however, members of the newspaper staff were able to gain the added experience of operating a computer-assisted photo typesetter, using tbe litho camera to get art and copy ready for printing, and actually running a high-speed press.

As a result of the acquisition of the new equipment, advisors Michael McMcrobie and Jan Noyes have plans for a more frequent publication and a possible back-to-school issue as well as continuing the new literary publication in the future.

At the beginning of each semester, members of the staff indicated their individual preferences for staff assignments. Final selections were made by the advisors. Chosen as Editor-in-Chief for the Fall term was Chris Smith. For the Spring term, McCrobie and Noyes opted to use a shared responsibility system, naming Jamies Sanbonmatsu to assist Smith as Co-Editor.

Story coverage within the paper has expanded in recent years from covering solely internal school stories to an emphasis on stories affecting the school district and the community. Staff members were expected to research stories, conduct interviews and gather background information to support their stories. An example during this school year was the continuing controversy regarding the school bus capacity issue.

It goes without saying that The Buccaneer Bulletin, the sole student newspaper in Oswego County, has earned a decided reputation for being a quality publication.

Of blood, sweat and word processors

When people think of their yearbook, they usually think of how many times they appear in it and what their friends write in it. But many people do not realize all the work that goes into the book.

The staff, comprised of high school students, started raising money at the beginning of the school year to finance the book. After the appropriate funds were raised, the production of the book was started.

With careful planning, the editors began the actual production of pages. There were some new changes in the way the book was produced this year. The basic design style was changed to a column style layout. The new print style used was Lydian. With the use of a word processing program from the publisher, the staff was able to use the computers at the high scbool to produce copy at a much faster and more efficient rate than in years past. With the new tool, the computer, and the old standard tools, type fitters, pica rulers, and imagination, pages were completed and sent to the publisher. Approximately six months later, the finishing touches were applied and the book was completed. After that, the only work remaining was to check proof pages and to distribute the book to you, the students.

Guidance Plays Important Role

Senior year is a time filled with many activities, for those seniors preparing for college. There is much to be done, but the guidance office provides invaluable assistance in this area.

The guidance office begins preparing students for further education at the beginning of the ninth grade by advising students to meet certain course requirements standard for most two and four year colleges. The guidance office helps sophomore students to define their interests by the administration of inventory survey tests. This helps students to define areas in which their interests lie, and to identify their academic strengths.

A student is faced with deciding what type of college he wants to attend, a two year or four year school, a university, technical or vocational schools. Fortunately, through the help of the GIS computer and talking representitives of colleges and universities, students begin to narrow down their choices.

After this is completed, students take the S.A.T's, A.C.T's, and Achievement tests. Then they must write to the individual schools they are considering and request an application, financial aid forms and other information concerning the school. The Guidance office aids students in this by providing transcripts of grades, descriptions of courses and letters of reference.

Finally, the last step for the guidance office after graduation is to send a final class ranking and student transcript to the university that the student plans to attend.

Ed Hawkins! Radio buff

Senior Ed Hawkins has been working toward his aspiration of becoming an electrical engineer through his great interest in ham radios. Ed's father introduced him to ham radios and he has been fascinated by them ever since.

Ed has been able to contact other radio operators as far away as Spain. He has also created a lasting friendship with a 12 year old "hamer" in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Ed belongs to Radio Amateurs Civil Emergency Service, which provides communications in case of a nuclear disaster.

Ed is also interested in sailing. He was a major force in the formation of the sailing club at OHS. He races Lightning Class sailboats during the summer.

Ed has learned a great deal through his experiences at OHS and will continue to use in the future what he has learned while at OHS.

Regents Scholarship Winners: 1985

48 members of the Class of 1985 were identified as recipients of Regents College Scholarships. This group of students received 25% of the scholarships awarded throughout Oswego County this year.

Charla Janice active musically

Senior Charla Janice has been actively involved in the Music and Theater programs at O.H.S.

Charla has been playing the flute since fourth grade. She has participated in Marching Band for four years. During the last marching band season she has the opportunity of being a section leader. Charla has also participated in Symphonic band and Wind Ensemble. This year she has the honor of being in the solo chair for Wind Ensemble. Charla has been a part of every musical production offered at the High School and has played several semi-leads.

In addition to her instrumental and acting talents, Charla also enjoys singing. She has been an accomplished member of All-County Chorus. Due to her hard work and motivation she was chosen out of 3000 students state wide to participate in All-State Chorus. Charla achieved a score of 99 out of a possible score of 100. For her exceptional performance she received a Letter of Recognition from Senator Barclay.

Charla also busies herself with other activities. She is part of the Buccaneer Bulletin staff and is the Student Life editor for this year's Paradox.

Charla is sad to be graduating but admits that it is time to move on. She hopes that the students following her will make the most of their four years here.

Nohara achieves excellence

Senior David Nohara has been very active throughout his four years at O.H.S. In addition to his involvement in Marching Band, Jazz Band, and the Wind Ensemble, he has also been involved in German Club, Honor Society, A.F.S., and was a member of the Paradox staff this year.

During his first two years of Marching Band he played the saxophone. During his Junior and Senior years he was presented with the opportunity of being Drum Major. This was an honor which he received following an audition in which he was asked to conduct the Marching Band and to direct movements of the instrumentalists and the color guard. He said that the experience was "extremely rewarding and one of the toughest jobs in high school."

Being drum major is a demanding position in which he has to be intimately familiar with the music being performed and at the same time he has to be able to respond to pressures from members of the band and its staff.

His most memorable experience was performing at the Dome with a high fever. During the performance it was very difficult for him because 20,000 people had him singled out. He had so much to remember and there were so many possibilities to err.

David enjoyed Jazz Band very much also. He said it was unlike Marching Band because they do not have to perform the same show repeatedly. There was "something new" to perform each time. In Jazz Band he was lead tenor saxophonist as a Freshman and worked very hard because of his many solos.

David takes pride in high academics standards. At the end of six semesters of study he was ranked number I in the graduating class. In addition, David has won several awards, including the Bausch and Lomb Science Award for highest average in Science. Only one Senior from each high school is selected. He also received the D.A.R. Good Citizien's Award, as a National Merit Semi Finalist, and he received the Ehrenurkunde Award for highest german average.

He plans to attend Yale University or the University of Chicago where he will study Biochemistry or go into disease research. Before going to college, however, he will travel to Germany with the O.H.S. German Club.

Four active years have been the hallmark of David's high school career. As a musician, scholar and member of the student body David has been well-liked and respected by both students and teachers. Undoubtedly, he will become another well-known OHS alumnus in the future.

Shah sets high standards

Monica Shah has been an outstanding achiever at OHS and will graduate with highest honors this spring. Monica plans to pursue a career in medicine upon completion of high school.

She volunteered 40 hours per week last summer at the electroencephalography laboratory at Upstate Medical Center to acquaint herself with the profession. Monica dealt with a variety of people, blind, epileptic, and retarded. Once she even had to obtain patient history from a criminal who was handcuffed and chained. Besides obtaining patient history, Monica wrote medical reports, and operated the EEG machine under supervision.

Monica has always had a fascination with neurology and the brain and found the experience to be both rewarding and educational.

Harry VanBuren III: Future businessman

Senior Harry VanBuren III has accomplished much in his four years at OHS. All of his achievements have been stepping stones toward his goal of becoming an international business executive.

A member of Junior Achievement for four years, he received the Central New York Outstanding Businessman Award in 1983 and again in 1984 as a result of his JA activities. In order to win this prestigious award, Harry had to complete a test on business and economics. The top five finishers were interviewed and the scores from the two part contest were combined. Harry finished with the highest overall score.

Break dancing business exec

He is most proud, however, of his Election as C.N.Y. JA Association President. He is interested in business because, "The business world allows me to use my abilities to make a profit."

Harry has also served as Prose Editor of the new OHS literary magazine and as a reporter for the Buccaneer Bulletin.

In the future, he hopes to attend the United States Coast Guard Academy and major in business administration.

Worden displays versatility

Senior Jeff Worden has participated in many activities throughout high school. Over all, he feels he has made definite progress in his chosen activities.

He has played several roles in high school drama productions and musicals. Of all the roles he has performed, he hopes people will remember his portrayal of Scrooge in A Christmas Carol. A Christmas Carol was the most memorable play of Jeff's high school career. He felt that it was a role that he could identify with and understand. He felt that he could reflect and share Scrooge's hardships. Jeff also appeared in the Junior Variety Show which gave him a change of pace from serious theater productions. He gives the advice that, "Doing impressions is much like acting - one must feel the part."

He has also contributed many cartoons for the Buccaneer Bulletin and the Paradox. He became interested in art when he was young and continued because of the opportunities offered at the high school. He adds, "If it made anyone happy, it was well worth it."

Jeff always wished he were good at some kind of sport. He generalized, "Athletes are happy people, unlike artists." He feels that, throughout time, artists have been treated as outcasts.

He hopes that people will remember him for his talents rather than the person he is. He finds that his personality confuses many people.

Jeff's future plans include teaching Drama and English after attending "Oswego Ivy" (Oswego State). He said he would like to act, but actors starve. He hopes to pass his knowledge and feelings on to someone else.

Reflections of World Events in 1984

1. In 1984 Pope John Paul traveled to various places around the world. In this photo he is shown meeting some of the 200,000 native that turned out to meet hiim in the highland jungle country of Papua, New Guinea. 2. After years of civil war, public elections were held in El Salvador in 1984. Jose Napolean Duarte was elected in what most international observers called the most open and free elections in over 50 years. The photo shows a soldier reading a newspaper at the Rio Lempa checkpoint near El Salvador. The headline reads, "There is Faith in the Electoral Process." 3. The United States arrived in Lebanon in 1982. Lebanon was torn by civil war and foreign invasion. In 1984 when the Marines left, more than 260 U.S. Marines had lost their lives; Lebanon was still at war, with most of its territory occupied by foreign troops and its government tottering. The price of President Reagan's commitment was too high and the Marines left Beirut. 4. Princess Diana gave birth to Prince Harry in late 1984. They are shown with Prince Charles and his other son Prince William.

A time to reflect

Like every year, this year was a kaleidoscope: heroes and villains, fads and farces, triumphs and tragedies all flashed before us—then were gone. The year also produced moments so singularly its own that they will always define it in the corridors of memory. A woman ran for the Vice-Presidency of the United States. Sports records that had been established for many years were either tied or surpassed. A 16 year old girl captured the heart of everybody at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics. It was again the year of Ronald Reagan as he crushed Walter Mondale in the Presidential election. In space the fictional character Buck Rogers seemingly came to life as Bruce McCandless took the first ever totally independent space walk. Abroad, the U.S. Marines finally came home from Lebanon after over 260 men lost their lives, while the first elections in over 50 years were held in El Salvador.

Just as in producing this book we have tried to preserve those people, events and things which effected our lives here at OHS, so in these pages we hold up the kaleidoscope of the past year so you can reflect back on the people, events and things which occurred and which affected our lives on a broader scale and thus will allow you to remember 1984 as the year that it was.

1. Bruce McCandless brings to life the fictional character of 'Buck Rogers' as he is the first person to "walk" in space completely independent from the space shuttle. 2. The Statue of Liberty celebrated her 98 birthday in 1984 and as a gift the United States decided to restore the outside of the statue. 3. President Reagan and Vice President Bush sought re-election in 1984. Reagan vowed not to raise taxes and ran on his record of the previous four years.

1. Michael Jackson conducted his so called 'Victory Tour' to more than a dozen cities nationwide. Some fans traveled over great lengths to see Michael and his brothers. The cost for a ticket was thirty dollars while scalped tickets reached several hundred dollars. 2. Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale made history when he selected Geraldine Ferraro as his running mate. Mrs. Ferraro was the first woman to seek either office in the White House. 3. After becoming the first black woman to win the Miss America pageant in 1984, Vanessa Williams was the first woman to surrender her title because she had posed nude in Penthouse magazine. 4. Robert Duvall received an Oscar for his role as a washed up singer who overcomes alcoholism in the film "Tender Mercies". Shirley MacLain won for best actress and Jack Nicholson won best supporting actor as an eccentric mother and pot-bellied astronaut in the film "Terms of Endearment", which also won best picture. Shown in the picture are MacLain and Duvall the night of the oscars.

Reflections: World Sports '84

1. Chicago Bears' Walter Payton eyes New Orleans Saints' Whitney Paul as he carries the ball on his way to breaking the record for rushing. He broke the record of 12,312 yards held by Jim Brown. 2. The United States did very well in the 1984 Summer Olympics. The most successful performance was turned in by Carl Lewis. Lewis won four gold medals—the 100 meters, the 200 meters, the 4x100 meters relay, and the long jump. He was the first man since Jessie Owens in the 1932 Berlin Olympics to accomplish this feat. 3. The 1984 Winter Olympics in Yugoslavia saw the United States win four gold and four silver medals. Steve Mahre (3) won the gold in the Men's Giant Slalom while Scott Hamilton (5) won the gold in Men's Figure Skating.4 Mary Lou Retton also performed well in the Summer Olympics. She captured the all-around gold medal and led the gymnastics team to a silver medal. She also won the bronze medal for the floor exercise and the uneven parallel bars and a silver medal for her efforts in the vault. 6. The World Series in 1984 saw the Detroit Tigers beat the San Diego Padres four games to one. The Tiger victory was attributed to the fine pitching of Jack

Musico, plays vital role

Kim Musico has been one of the more active participants in school activities during the past three years. Each year she has been chosen as a Homeroom Representative, and has served as a member of the Executive Committee for two of those years. She has also been a class officer during her sophomore and junior years serving as treasurer and president, respectively.

Being Junior Class President was perhaps the most demanding position which Kim has held. This is due in no small part to the fact that the bulk of any funds raised by a class are raised during the junior year. Kim tried to eliminate the need for door to door fundraising ventures. Instead, the class concentrated on big events such as Buc Weekend, Variety Show, Powder Puff Football (with the Seniors), and the Prom. The class also sponsored a Battle of the Bands.

Kim speaks highly of student government and class activities. According to her, "It is a lot of work, but worth it in the long run. You gain knowledge of what is going on in school and you have the ability to change guidelines."

Few people have had the degree of impact upon the Class of 1986 which Kim Musico has had.

O'Reilly achieves success

Trumpeteer Kelly O'Reilly has been hard at work for eight years. Her dedication to music has paid off, as she has been a member of many prestigious bands. Last summer she was a member of the Jazz Band at Eastman School of Music. Kelly gained a position in both the All-County and the All-State Bands. She was the first OHS junior to ever gain this distinction. She also was a member of The Syracuse Symphony Youth Orchestra. Within our school, Kelly is a member of the Wind Ensemble, Jazz Band, and Marching Band.

Kelly states she has achieved her present level by consistent practice and study under excellent teachers.

After graduation Kelly hopes to gain acceptance into a high calibre school of music. She will pursue either orchestra, studio, or jazz work. Which field she follows in the future will be unimportant, because if she maintains her dedication she will be successful.

Brad Peterson: soccer fanatic

Perseverance is an attribute of Brad Peterson. Whether you see him on the field with the Varsity squad or on the turf at Romney, you will surely see him hard at work in one of his favorite pastimes, playing the game of soccer.

For Brad, soccer is a year round sport. He plays with the school team in the fall, and with two road teams during the spring and summer months. During the winter, Brad concentrates on indoor soccer. He praticipates in the school's indoor league and the newly formed city league. He also enjoys playing at Romney in a pick-up league. In his leisure time, Brad attends two goalie camps during the summer and practices three to four times per week at home. Brad especially enjoys indoor soccer because of its fast pace.

Brad knows the true meaning of dedication. He says, "When you do something right and you have worked for it, you feel good about it. When you do something wrong you see that there is more work to be done." These sentiments reflect the dedication necessary for success in any endeavor, athletic or academic.

Dedicated athelete

D. Wilber

Hard work and dedication, characteristics of members of the class of 1986, are well represented in Chris Cafalone. His involvement in athletics is a reflection of these characteristics. Playing guard for the basketball team and catcher for the baseball team, Chris has contributed a great deal to athletics at O.H.S.

Looking back, Chris cites travelling to California with the baseball team and trying out for the Cincinnati Reds as highlights of his first three years at O.H.S. Chris attended an open tryout in Liverpool for the Reds. Although he was not picked, he was not too discouraged, as only one person was chosen by the Red's organization. Rather, he felt it was a valuable experience because he was able to meet major league scouts and get a feel for what future tryouts would be like.

After high school, Chris plans to continue his education and athletics at either Maine University or the University of Michigan. Besides earning a degree in business, Chris would like to play baseball in college to possibly help him become a professional ball player. He realizes that the odds may be against him attaining this goal, but he is working hard to achieve it.

Ponzi leads Sophomore class

Sophomore President Gina Ponzi led her class to a successful year. Through car washes, raffles, bake sales, candy sales, and a very successful magazine drive which grossed $1,500, the sophomore class increased its bank account substantially.

Gina says she cannot accept full credit for the success of her class. "The rest of the officers are great to work with, accept responsibility, and are good workers." She also adds that Miss Irwin, class advisor, has contributed a great deal to help the sophomore class.

Gina's involvement with student government goes beyond the office of class president. As a freshman she served as class secretary. She has also been an active member of the student council.

Being active in student activities allows Gina to know what is happening around school. For this reason, and for the enjoyment she receives through her active participation in class and school activities, Gina hopes to be able to continue her participation in student government.

In addition to participating in student government, Gina competes in various sports. She played two years of soccer and volleyball at the JV level, while she also ran one year of Varsity Track.

With the intensity expressed by Gina, it is likely she will remain active with her class, student government, and athletic activities during her junior and senior years.

Kent Krause: busy man at O.H.S.

Kent Krause is definitely one who does not believe in specialization. He participates in a wide variety of activites, and despite his crowded schedule, he does all of them surprisingly well.

His main interests lie in sports and music. Kent plays offensive and defensive tackle on the football team. He also swims the 100 and 50 meter backstrokes for the Varsity Swimming Team. In his first two years on the team, Kent has qualified for the sectional meet.

M. Regan

Kent is also involved in the music program at O.H.S. He plays the alto saxophone in both the Wind Ensemble and the Jazz Band. Successful in local competitions, he sets one of his goals as making the All-State Band.

While keeping such a busy schedule, he has still been able to maintain high academic standards. He is consistently on the Highest Honor Roll and hopes to graduate near the top of his class.

Although his plans are not definite, Kent would like to pursue a career in marine biology. He is especially interested in sharks. Whatever career he does choose, if he does it with the same enthusiasm and energy that he displays at O.H.S., we know he will succeed.

Bjornsen Enjoys Stay

Foreign exchange student Lena Bjornsen enjoyed her stay in Oswego, in spite of the many changes in her environment. The transition from Lena's hometown, Oslo, the capital of Norway, to Oswego, was one Lena underwent with interest and enthusiasm.

City size is an item which hampered Lena's normal daily activities. Lena states that in Norway there was much more for her to do. Her nightlife was occupied by attending parties or one of many discos. In Norway, there is also a wisespread busing system which got Lena everywhere she wanted to go.

Although size was a disappointing factor to Lena, Oswego made many lasting impressions upon her. Lena especially enjoyed the view of Lake Ontario. She also enjoyed the option of night shopping, which she had not been exposed to in Norway.

Lena Bjornsen

Another thing Lena had not previously experienced was the wide range and variety of items available to consumers which Americans take for granted. She was thoroughly amazed when she walked into a grocery store to find an aisle devoted to various types of cookies. She also appreciated the varsity of stores, movies, and T.V. channels.

Lena enjoyed the variety of courses and extra cuccicular activities offered by our school. In Norway a student is not able to choose his courses. Lena took advantage of these options by joining the Marching Band, Sailing Club, and Ski Club.

Although Lena enjoyed her stay in the U.S., she looks forward to returning to Norway this summer. She plans on spending her entire life there, with a vacation in the States somewhere in the future.

"Prezence", a heavy metal band comprised of vocalist Paul Barlow on lead guitar, Fran Scaglione on drums, and Jim Solazzo, bass, is a band that has its sights set on a future in the music business.

Inspired by groups such as "KISS" and "Led Zeppelin" and by Fran's older brother, Johnny Angel, the three began playing together in middle school. They have since become very dedicated, often practicing every day after school. Trying to perform as much as possible, they have played at several dances at the middle school and the Y.M.C.A. and also at various variety shows.

They feel that if they are to succeed, they must play their own music and work as a team. Although they play the music of big-name groups, they write some of their own songs, including "Gift of the Future" and "Be My Baby". Together for several years, they plan to stay together because they believe they can sound better if they are accustomed to each other and play as a team. This team also includes their stage manager, Jim Lewis.

When asked what they like most about music, they say that besides being a lot of fun, it is very rewarding because they are able to express themselves through their music. They also hope to be successful as professional musicians. They realize that the majority of groups with the same ambitions fail, but through hard work, dedication, and a little luck, they hope to make it big.

Mantaro Has Active Year

Jason Mantaro is a busy person. He not only played an active role in school sports this past year but he also held the office of Freshman Class President.

As President, Jason saw his class working together to achieve the necessary finances for its junior and senior class activities. The class of 1988 reached its financial goal through raffles, sales campaigns and other activities.

In athletic competition, Jason competed on three school teams. In the fall, Jason played for both the Junior Varsity and Varsity Soccer teams. During the winter season he was a member of the Varsity Hockey team. Jason topped off his freshman year playing on the newly formed lacrosse team.

Jason plans to maintain his athletic endeavors throughout high school. Another aim of his is to graduate with honors, and to gain acceptance into a prestigious college, where he hopes to study sports medicine.

It is likely that Jason will prove to be an asset to his class throughout high school. This is evident after viewing his contributions during his freshman year.

Mangano makes big splash at O.H.S.

Although only a freshman, Vicki Mangano has already established herself as a prominent member of the gymnastics and swimming teams.

She became involved with gymnastics when she was seven and has been a member of the varsity team since the seventh grade. Her best events are the balance beam and the uneven parallel bars. Although she made the sectionals this year, she was not really satisfied with her performance and hopes to do better in the future.

Over the last few years, diving has become her main athletic interest. In the seventh grade, a friend got her interested in diving, and after a year on the Middle School team, she joined the varsity team in the eighth grade. She had an excellent season this year and was ranked among the top divers in Section III. She competed in the sectionals this year and hopes to make the state meet in future years. She sets one of her goals as breaking the high school diving record, believing that that it is a possibility if she keeps up the pace she has already set.

Surprisingly enough, her future plans lie not in athletics, but in dramatics. Her dream is to be a professional actress. She is a member of the Drama Club and is considering taking acting lessons to improve her chances of realizing her dream. Meanwhile, she will continue to pursue her athletic activities. Judging by her accomplishments in the past three years, Vicki will ultimately realize her goals both in high school and the years beyond.

Stewart sets goals

At an age when many people have not even begun to think about life after high school, Kirsten Stewart has already decided on her career. Although she has played the oboe for only three years, she plans to become a professional musician.

After playing the flute for a few years, she switched to the oboe in the seventh grade because she "wanted to stand out and liked to be different." Since then, she has become a serious student of the instrument, taking private lessons and practicing every day. This year, as a freshman, Kirsten is the principal oboist in the Wind Ensemble. She has done well at local competitions and hopes to make the All-State Band.

Not only does Kirsten study the oboe, but she is also a very dedicated pianist. A pianist since approximately age six, Kirsten undertakes a daily regimen of practice and drill to maintain her accomplished proficiency. She performs at recitals frequently and has won first place in the junior class at the Oswego County Piano Teachers Competition.

P. Swanson

Although she enjoys playing both the oboe and the piano, she plans to concentrate her studies on the oboe. She feels that the competition would be too great if she became a professional pianist. Her career goal is to play in a major symphony orchestra. Before that, however, she can look forward to three more successful years at O.H.S.

J. Minor: Diverse Freshman

Windsurfer and traveller are only two of the many characteristics of Freshman Johnathon Minor. His diversity not only allows him to gain knowledge, but experience in various subject areas.

Windsurfing tops Johnathon's list as his favorite activity. After windsurfing for a year Johnathon has gained statewide recognition in Florida, ranking in the top 50 poll of windsurfers under 16 in Northwest Florida. Johnathon enjoys windsurfing so much because it allows him to get outside and enjoy the sun, the wind, and the surf.

When Johnathon is not out "catching the breeze" he most probably is travelling. Johnathon has lived in a variety of locales, including Australia, California, Florida, and New Orleans. Last summer, Johnathon travelled across the United States. He hopes to visit Europe sometime in the next few years. Johnathon's travels have allowed him to gain interest in modeling, soccer, and singing and song writing.

Johnathon plans on pursuing a career in the business field in the future. If Johnathon's past is a true indicator of his future, he will indeed be a memorable OHS alumnus in June 1988.

The 1984 Girls Varsity Softball Team, led by tri-captains Dani Martin, Darcy McAdam and Ann Marie DiGaetano, had a great season. Besides compiling a 14-3 record, they captured the League Championship. Timely hitting, excellent fielding, good base running and, most of all, a desire to carry out the winning softball tradition led the Lady Bucs to their championship title.

Tri-captain, Darcy McAdam, (see feature) named most valuable player, had an outstanding season. She had a batting average of .558, with 19 RBI's, 16 stolen bases, scored 30 runs and had a fielding percentage of .929. For her efforts the Buc center fielder was named to First Team All League.

Eight other Lady Bucs received All League recognition. Along with Darcy, left fielder Dani Martin (.290 BA, 19 runs, 14 RBI's), and 3rd baseman Chris Palmitesso (.400 BA, 9 extrabase hits, 17 RBI's) received First Team recognition. Named to the Second Team were pitcher Debbie Morin, 1st baseman Donna Clark and 2nd baseman Darlene Delaney. Honorable Mention went to Ann Marie DiGaetano, Becki Thompson and Mary Ann Verdoliva.

Pitcher Debbie Morin's outstanding season on the mound played an integral role in the team's drive to the League Championship. She collected 9 wins, while only suffering 2 losses and picking up one save. In addition to Debbie's fine record, she tossed 2 no-hitters and 3 shutouts.

The Lady Bucs ended their season on a disappointing note, suffering a 2-0 loss to E.S.M. in the first round of sectional play. First year coach Helen Jermyn did an excellent job with the team. Things should look good for the Lady Bucs in 85 for they will be having eight strong players returning.

Darcy McAdam shines

The 1984 Girls Softball Team was filled with star performers, yet none shined more brightly than Darcy McAdam. She led the team in virtually every offensive category, while defensively she committed only one error at her centerfield position.

McAdam's coach, Helen Jermyn, considered Darcy a complete player, who excelled in all phases of the game. Jermyn added that in addition to her skills, McAdam had a thorough understanding of the game, and a very competative nature, characteristics which all truly outstanding athletes have.

Teammates also praised Darcy, citing her unselfish style of play. Veteran 1st Baseman Donna Clark said McAdam had an air of confidence about her, yet she always maintained a modest profile.

Darcy's abilities and positive attitude earned her an athletic scholarship to Shippensburg College in Pennsylvania, where she hopes to pick up where she left off- at the top.

The J.V. Girls Softball Team's season was the epitome of inconsistency. Their longest winning streak was three games. Similarly, they never lost more than two in a row. They managed to finish with a very respectable 10-7 won-lost record. Second year coach Frank Bevacqua expressed some disappointment, stating that pitching problems and an overall lack of depth, aggravated by the loss of players to the Varsity, accounted for the inconsistency. Overall, Bevacqua felt the season was a success.

Bevacqua credited Sue Lester, Jo-elle Whitney, and Paula Collins, for their leadership abilities, and excellent individual performances. Collins paced the team with 17 hits. Her .405 batting average was second only to Michelle Clark's .524 mark. Michelle DiGaetano provided additional offensive punch, hitting at a .333 pace.

The 1984 Varsity Baseball Team featured excellent pitching and solid fielding. Unfortunately, a lack of hitting prevented the team from reaching its potential. Skipper Ted Kerley's club played "to the level of our competition," resulting in a mediocre fourth place finish.

The strong pitching staff was anchored by ace Mike James, without doubt the hard-luck player of the season. Despite his exceptional earned run average of 2.45, he won only two games, while suffering three losses. In 48-plus innings, James gave up only 32 hits, and struck out a team-high 59 batters. Mike's impressive statistics earned him a spot on the Second Team, All-League.

Supporting James were hurlers Dan Breitbeck and Stephen Jermyn. Breitbeck struggled throughout the year, finishing with a 2 and 6 record, while posting an E.R.A. of 5.67. Jermyn fared somewhat better, going 1 and 1 on the year, and recording a super E.R.A. of 2.00.

The offense was headed by team M.V.P. Bob Coon (see feature), who led the team in nearly every offensive category. The big first baseman/catcher hit .380, scored 14 runs, drove in 17, and belted 8 home runs. Aside from Coon, there was little offensive punch. However, shortstop Augie Gentile did score 13 runs, and had 12 hits, including two homers, and outfielder John Vashaw ripped four doubles, to lead the team in that category.

Over half the team should be returning in 1985. If the holes created due to graduation can be effectively filled by players from last year's league-champion J.V. roster, the O.H.S. batsmen could again become a force to be reckoned with in the Class A Division.

Bob Coon - hitter extraordinaire

When Senior Bob Coon was named the Most Valuable Player of the varsity baseball team this past spring, few observers were surprised. While most of his teammates performed inconsistently, Coon was simply brilliant. In fact, one can only wonder how many fewer games the team would have won had it not been for the exploits of their All-League catcher/first baseman. Consider his stats: a .380 batting average; 19 hits, including 8 round-trippers; 49 total bases, an "unreal" slugging percentage of .907. These numbers are indicative of what Coon accomplished throughout his career.

Outstanding among Coon's many achievements was his four year career as a varsity member, a feet few ballplayers have accomplished at O.H.S. Furthermore, Coach Ted Kerley believes Coon was one of the best hitters he has coached in his 19 year, high school coaching career. Kerley added that Bob was a coachable individual, who "worked real hard at the sport."

Coon, having graduated, has packed up his "golden" bat and glove, and travelled on to LeMoyne College, where he hopes to continue terrorizing opposing pitchers with his lethal bat. Armed with good skills and an excellent attitude, Bob Coon should no doubt enjoy a successful collegiate career.

JV season outstanding

The J.V. Baseball Team turned in a sparkling performance this past spring, finishing with a record of 16 victories, and only one loss. Michael Clyne's league champions combined solid hitting and pitching to completely dominate their opponents. Among the team's victories came two against perennial league powerhouse Liverpool which, along with a victory over arch-rival Fulton, were the highlights of the year. Coach Clyne cited the hitting of Joe Chesare, and the overall play of Brian Wyman, J.B. Gentile, and Bill Volkomer as being instrumental to the team's success. Aside from exhibiting excellent all-around skills, Clyne was impressed with the positive attitude and maturity displayed by his club.

The Freshman Baseball Squad had a difficult season, attributable primarily to a paper-thin roster, (only 13 players). Coach Tom Frawley commented that the turnout was the poorest in ten years.

Despite the small turnout, there were some bright spots. Bill Favata displayed unusual versatility, anchoring the pitching staff, in addition to performing well at both shortstop and centerfield. George Sweeting wielded the big stick for the Frosh, leading the team in RBI's and slugging percentage. The highlight of the season was a 9-6 win over a strong Rome Free Academy team. The team also managed to sweep their home-and-home series with Fulton.

The low point of the year was a loss inflicted by Central Square, a team that had failed to beat the Oswego Frosh in 21 previous games.

Though the season's record was a poor one, the players did gain valuable experience, which hopefully will aid them in future years.

Young team shows enthusiasm

The 1984 Girls Track Team was a very youthful one, with only two seniors among its 44 members. Nevertheless, Coach Jim McCaul felt the season was very successful. He was extremely impressed with the entire team's enthusiasm and dedication. Outstanding performers included All-League Performer Kathy Johnson (see feature), Paige Maurer (Second Team, All-League), Veena Mahajan, Sara Lester, and Traci Purtell.

McCaul has high expectations of his returning members. He feels that he can build upon the nucleus of the 1984 team and bring the program back to the top in coming years.

Coach McCaul's one disappointment has been the lack of support he has received in his efforts to establish an indoor track program. Oswego is the only school in Section III without an all year program, an ingredient which McCaul feels is essential for the O.H.S. track program to prosper.

Dedication takes Kathy Johnson to states

Dedication is a word that is inevitably brought up whenever O.H.S. Track Coach Jim McCaul talks about Kathy Johnson. That's because when McCaul first saw her, he thought she would be anything but what she turned out to be; a record-setting, All League discus thrower.

Most exceptional female discus throwers are tall with long legs and arms. Johnson, standing only 5'4", hardly seemed destined to become a discus thrower. As a Freshman in her first meet, Kathy's best toss was a mere fifty feet. However, she refused to allow herself to get discouraged. She trained hard, refined her technique, and constantly improved upon her distances. By the end of her Sophomore year, Kathy was heeving the discus over 100 feet. This improvement though, was only a hint of things to come.

Johnson's Senior year was nothing short of sensational. She broke the school distance mark with a record toss of 112'7". She was the Section III Class A Champion, and a finalist in the State meet. Aside from receiving First Team All League honors, she was named Outstanding Field Performer, and was recipient of the Joseph J. McCaul Memorial Award. Kathy though, never let success diminish her will to improve. "She just keeps plugging away and continues to improve," McCaul said. "She really enjoys what she's doing; it isn't like work to her."

Kathy Johnson, through hard work and dedication, established herself a place alongside the top athletes who have graced the O.H.S. playing fields.

Relay Team leads Cindermen in '84

The 400 meter Relay Team was one of the few bright spots of the Boy's Varsity Track season. Comprised of Paul Bradshaw, Tee Murabito, Bill Cavallaro, and Tim Bishop, the team represented the strength of the 1984 squad. The Relay Team consistently won, a feat which eluded the generally undermanned and inexperienced Buc Cindermen.

Hurdler Brad Robinson and sprinters Paul Bradshaw and Tee Murabito were among the individuals who stood out. Particularly noteworthy were the accomplishments of Greg Cole who specialized in jumping events. The highlight of the season was Bradshaw establishing a new school record in the 400 meter sprint, with a time of 52.3 seconds.

The 1984 Varsity Boys Tennis team finished with a record of three wins and seven losses. Ordinarily, such a record wouldn't be noteworthy. However, in the case of the tennis team, it represented a tremendous improvement over the previous year's winless season.

Though last year's team was an inexperienced one, with Scott Maurer and Mike Spring being the only returning lettermen, there were a few glimmerings of success which provide for an optimistic outlook for the upcoming season. Several first-year players turned in solid performances.

The Junior doubles combination of Todd Rucynski and John Soluri finished the year with a 7 and 4 record. Coach Bill Fatiga commented, "They did an excellent job, especially considering it was their first year of organized tennis." Rucynski and Soluri both attributed their success to the way in which their styles complemented one another.

The other doubles team, comprised of Seniors Tom Bullard (team MVP), and Tom Braco, also had a fine season. Junior Ravi Chandrashekhar came on strong over the second half of the season, notching a few victories at the third singles position.

Coach Fatiga felt the team was the second best he has coached, attributing any shortcomings to the ever-present problem of lack of experience.

The OHS Golf Team enjoyed outstanding success during the 1984 season. The team posted its best record in seven years, finishing in third place in the OHSL North.

Coach Mark Mayo cited the team's overall balance of players as the main reason for its accomplishments. This balance was reflected in the team recording the lowest stroke average (43.9) in the eleven year tenure of Coach Mayo.

The team's most satisfying victory was a thrilling one stroke defeat of Liverpool. The major disappointment was a thrashing suffered at the hands of Auburn.

All-League performer Todd Travis (see feature) was named team MVP. His 40.5 stroke average was second only to Junior Kevin Dewey's 40.2 mark. Both qualified and competed in the Section 3 Finals at Colgate. Other individuals who had strong seasons were Odie Van Opdorp (41.5 stroke average), Pat Donahue (42.6) and Dave Caryl (43.3).

Coach Mayo expects to compete for the league title in the 1985 season with 1984's top three linksters all returning.

Travis successful on course

No member of the 1984 golf team was more impressive than Todd Travis. In a field of outstanding linksters Todd managed to be the leading scorer in seven of the team's thirteen matches. He finished second to the steady Kevin Dewey for lowest team stroke average, and was named an All-League golfer. What makes these achievements truly noteworthy is the fact that last year Travis was only a Freshman. Rarely does a Freshman even make a varsity team, let alone be named the team's MVP. However, that's exactly what Todd Travis did.

Todd began playing golf when he was five. His entire family golfs, thus it was only natural that he acquired a fondness for the game. However, although Travis was an experienced golfer going into last season, he was surprised with his success. He admitted that he didn't expect to qualify for Sectionals. He not only qualified for Sectionals but also earned tournament medalist honors.

Coach Mark Mayo credits Todd's success to a combination of natural talent and dedication. Mayo believes Travis has the potential to play golf at the collegiate level, and perhaps even to go on the pro tour.

Attaining that kind of success requires years of hard work, along with a little luck. However, Todd Travis has taken his first step toward that distant goal, and he appears to be headed in the right direction.

Cheerleaders

More important than you think

When one thinks of attending a sporting event, one envisions a game filled with excitemen, players going all out to win, intense coaches, wild fans and, of course, cheerleaders.

Cheerleaders have probably the toughest job of anyone at a sporting event. The players have "only" to play (afterall, that's all the fans came to see). The refs have a difficult job, but no one is supposed to like them. Cheerleaders, however, are expected to provide additional entertainment for the fans when the players are not playing, and to provide encouragement for the team members when they are not winning. This is not a problem during an exciting game, but ask a cheerleader how much fun it is to cheer before a home crowd when their team is losing. Cheerleaders, unlike most "fair weather fans" support their teams through the good and not-so-good times.

The next time you are at a game and find yourself commenting on the uselessness of cheerleaders, just think about how boring those four time-outs called in the last minute and a half of a basketball game would be if it were not for the ever faithful cheerleaders.

Lady booters:

Stupendous!

It was a cold Tuesday at the end of October when the Lady Bucs Soccer Team was traveling to Bishop Ludden for their final game of the regular season. Earlier that day the New York State Soccer Poll had been released ranking the OHS squad fourth in the state and first in Section III. Resting on the outcome of the game was a first ever undefeated season for the Lady Bucs. The team won easily, preserving its undefeated season and earning the number one seed in the Sectionals.

The girls came out fired-up in the first round game, destroying Central Square 12-0. However, there would be no easy opponents from there on out. The semi-finals took place in Fulton, with West Genesee the opponent, a team that Oswego narrowly beat during the regular season. In this game Coach Debbie Scholla's booters revealed their character by rebounding from a two goal deficit and eventually winning in a shoot-out.

The Sectional Championship game, which was almost anticlimatic to anyone who had seen the West Genesee classic, pitted Oswego against long-time nemesis Liverpool. The game was well played by both teams, but on this day luck favored Liverpool and the Warriors went home with a 3-2 victory, despite a two-goal effort by Paige Maurer.

First year coach Debbie Scholla inherited an outstanding crop of talent from veteran coach Helen Jermyn who decided to retire at the end of last year. Aside from the exceptional individual talent, the team won due to their desire and unselfish play.

Tri-captains Donna Clark, Paige Maurer, and Michelle Soucy (see feature) were all named to the First Team All-League along with Junior Judy Sheldon. Mary-Ann Verdoliva earned Second Team honors, while Seniors Jo-ell Wahrendorf and Kathy Cook, and Freshman Kristina Lenahan received Honorable Mention.

Many individual records were established including season scoring set by Paige Maurer (27 goals), career scoring set by Donna Clark (63 goals; 24 assists), and most shut-outs in a season set by keeper Kristina Lenahan (11).

Overall, the season was a super one, and the team will surely be remembered as one of the great ones in the history of OHS.

An awesome trio

The 1984 Girls Varsity Soccer Team was led by its three tri-captains, Seniors Donna Clark, Paige Maurer, and Michelle Soucy. All were veteran players, Paige and Michelle, three year members of the varsity squad, while Donna spent her entire high school career at the varsity level.

The list of records and awards received by this trio is a long one. However, aside from accumulating impressive stats, they all were clutch performers, as evidenced by the leadership they displayed during Sectionals. In the semi-final game Paige scored the game-tying goal, and both she and Donna scored in the shoot-out to secure an OHS victory. In the Sectional final Maurer scored both of her team's goals, and Michelle made several big plays defensively. The game ending in a loss did little to diminish their outstanding performances.

Donna began playing soccer at age ten in the youth soccer leagues. As a Freshman, she not only made the varsity team, but earned 2nd team All-League honors. She has made 1st Team All-League during each of the past three consecutive years. Clark shattered the previous career scoring record, totaling 63 goals, a mark likely to stand for several years. During the past two summers Donna has played on the Central squad in the Empire State Games and on the New York Western State Team. Donna, also an All-League volleyballer, hopes to play soccer in college.

Paige, who first played soccer six years ago, was encouraged by her father, a coach and coordinator of Oswego Youth Soccer, to learn the game. As a Junior, Paige was a Second Team All-League selection, cracking the First Team her Senior year. In addition to scholastic soccer, Maurer has played in the Empire Games for two years, on the N.Y. Western State Team, and was invited to the N.Y.S. Regional Camp. Paige hopes to go to college on a soccer scholarship. She plans to study engineering or sports medicine.

Michelle got her start in soccer in sixth grades, following a course similar to Paige's and Donna's. Throughout her career Michelle showed steady improvement, earning Honorable Mention as a Sophomore, 2nd Team All-League as a Junior, and 1st Team All-League as a Senior. Michelle's position of sweeperback was not glamorous and was often an unrewarding one. The position though is unquestionably one of the most important, requiring an intelligent, as well as skilled, player. Soucy's steady, unselfish play was rewarded when she was named the team's MVP. Michelle, an Empire State Games participant, would like to continue playing soccer in college.

Graduation will take its toll on the ranks of our Lady Booters when Paige, Donna and Michelle leave. However, their contributions, singly and collectively, will be long remembered by coaches, teammates and spectators alike.

J.V. girls go undefeated

The Girls' JV Soccer Team went undefeated during the 1984 season, the only blemish on their record a 3-3 tie with rival Fulton. Coach Chris Scholla was extremely pleased with the entire team. He did not attribute the success to any one individual, but instead, cited the all-around skill and hard work displayed by his squad as the primary factor for the outstanding season.

Wins against F-M, Liverpool, and Auburn, a game in which the JV Bucs rallied for a thrilling 3-2 victory after trailing at the half, were the highlights of the season.

Offensively, Amy White led in scoring, tallying 18 goals and adding 11 assists, while Tracy Patrick and Denise Clark scored 13 goals each. Goalie Janet Wood led the defense, posting seven shut-outs.

The 1984 Boys JV Soccer Team started strongly, and though they faded in the second half of the season, Coach Dick Benjamin was generally pleased with his team's play. Benjamin said the competition within the league was very strong, and despite a losing record, believed his squad showed steady improvement throughout the season.

Notable victories came against FM (the JV's won two games against the always tough Hornets by scores of 2-0 and 2-1), Wayne Central, and E.S.M.

Co-Captain Noel Francisco was named the team MVP. Joe Benzing and Keith Martin performed strongly while sharing the keeper position. Defender Mike Teifke had an excellent season as did midfielders Tom Benjamin and Jason Wallace. Chris Lamb was the primary scoring threat, tallying seven goals to lead the JV Bucs offensively.

Transition in varsity soccer

Travel, travail and transition marked the 1984 Boys' Varsity Soccer season. The season, although not a winning one, produced many memories for players and members of the coaching staff.

A trip to Long Island was the highlight of the season. In addition to playing two games, the Bucs also spent some time sight-seeing. They toured the Meadowlands Sports Complex and viewed a New York Cosmos practice. The high point of the trip was a deep-sea fishing expedition off the coast of Long Island.

Unfortunately for the Buc Booters, the remainder of the season was a disappointment. The team's inexperience became evident as it struggled to score goals. Shut-out for seven consecutive games at one point in the season, the team did end the season strongly, winning four of its final seven games.

The defense was led by Co-Captain Bill Crego (see feature). Supporting Crego were fullbacks Paul Vanouse, Shane Bower (League Honorable Mention), John Soluri, and Keeper Jose Garcia. Midfielders Jamie Sanbonmatsu, Scott Benjamin, and Marc Ciappa (League Honorable Mention) also performed well.

The Offense was led by Co-Captain Bill Cavallaro (2nd Team All-League), and Sophomores Kevin Everts and Derek Manwaring.

The 1984 season marked the end of the OHS coaching career of Tom Doran, who announced his retirement at the end of the season. During his stay, he won 50 games, including a Sectional title in 1981. Aside from winning, Doran's teams were noted for the sportsmanship and class they displayed on the playing fields.

The 1984 season will probably best be remembered as one of transition for boys' soccer. Hopefully the transition will occur smoothly and successfully.

Crego - Defensive standout

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Boys' Varsity Soccer team was battling a much improved Fulton squad. The team was trying to salvage a disappointing season by gaining a win over its arch-rival. However, for much of the first half the game was dead even. Then Oswego was given a direct kick from about 30 yards out. Bill Crego approached the ball and unleashed a shot with his powerful right foot. The Fulton goalie watched helplessly as the ball soared into the far upper corner of the net. Oswego went on to win the game, 1-0.

Though Crego, nicknamed Zeus, has gained notoriety for his powerful shot, he has played defense throughout his varsity career. In 1983, when the team reached the Section III finals in the Carrier Dome, Bill played the stopper position. This allowed him and sweeper Dave Burns to form the back-bone of a record setting defense. He received Honorable Mention for his outstanding play for that season.

This past season, Crego, co-captain of the 1984 squad, was forced to switch positions and assume the sweeper duties. Despite playing a new position, Crego anchored a defense that, though not spectacular, was the steadiest aspect of the team and earned himself 2nd. Team All League recognition.

Bill first played soccer at the Campus School and is one of a long line of outstanding players turned out by Dick Benjamin's soccer program there.

Throughout Crego's career, coaches and players alike have described Bill as being a hard-working, hustling, unselfish soccer player. He is generally perceived as putting team play above his own individual accomplishments.

Among his many accomplishments, however, Crego savors winning the 1981 Sectionals the most. His greatest disappointment was the failure of the 1984 squad to qualify for sectional play.

Bill plans to play soccer in college, but he is unsure of where he will attend school. The determining factor will be how well he does this spring at his other love, baseball. Wherever Bill finally enrolls, let college soccer coaches be forewarned, if they select Bill to play at their schools, they had better plan on having to straighten out a few goal posts.

Inexperience hampers gridders

The 1984 Varsity Football Team had a tough season, due primarily to the inexperience of its personnel. The majority of the Seniors played at the skill positions and most performed well, but it was not enough to overcome a lack of depth and a weak offensive line.

The Buc gridders started off strongly, sandwiching victories against CBA and Central Square around a loss suffered at the hands of Cortland before embarking on a four game losing streak.

A bitter loss to Fulton was the low point of the season. The game was a defensive struggle in which the Buc offense had opportunities to score but was constantly turned back by an inspired Red Raider defense.

Scoring proved to be difficult throughout the season as the team only averaged 9.1 ppg. Once again the offense was led by the aerial attack of quarterback Steve Jermyn (offensive MVP) who threw for over 1200 yards and five touchdowns. Thirteen of Jermyn's passes landed in the hands of the opposition. However, the majority of the interceptions occurred with Steve being harassed by the defensive rush, which proved to be an all too familiar sight. When Jermyn was not dodging defensive ends, he usually hit his two favorite targets, flanker Tee Murabito and tight end Dave Decaire (see feature). The rest of the receiving corp was comprised of Doug Armstrong, Michael Boyzuick, and Fred Sheffield.

A weak running game was led by Senior Leo Babcock who rushed for 261 yards and two touchdowns. Doug Armstrong gained 227 yards on 40 carries, good for a 5.7 yard average, while Jermyn added 120 yards and two TD's.

Defensively, the Bucs were strong, surrendering only an average 18 ppg.. Leading the way was Mike Carroll (defensive MVP) who recorded 52 tackles, and 66 assists. Mike also recovered a fumble and returned it 60 yards for a touchdown. Kevin Dewey was a force on both the offensive and defensive lines, contributing 46 tackles and 30 assists. Other defensive standouts included Jermyn and Dan Maniccia, who had 44 tackles and 59 assists.

Garnering accolades for the gridders were Steve Jermyn (1st Team All-League Defense; 2nd Team All-Upstate New York Defense); Dave Decaire (First Team All-League Offense); Tee Murabito (2nd Team Offense); and Mike Carroll (2nd Team defense). Receiving league Honorable Mention were Doug Armstrong, Kevin Dewey, Leo Babcock, and Dan Maniccia.

Decaire and Murabito gain recognition

T. Murabito

The 1984 Varsity Football team relied on the forward pass as its main offensive weapon, with the Bucs once again leading the league in passing yardage. The top two receivers, Tee Murabito and Dave Decaire, each turned in excellent performances. They complemented each other very well, with the speedy Murabito serving as the deep threat and the steady Decaire as the short yardage man.

Tee led the team in receiving yards, totalling 598 on 26 catches. His 23 yards per catch average was also a team high. Four of his receptions were good for touchdowns, another team mark. Murabito was a 2nd Team All-League selection in 1984. As a Junior, the previous year, he made the 1st Team.

Tee's biggest thrill was a three touchdown performance against Central Square. He savors leading the league in receiving – 1983 and 1984 as his finest accomplishment. Asked what he enjoyed most about football, Murabito responded, "Scoring touchdowns and the bus rides home after winning games." Tee wants to continue his football career at either Alfred or St. Lawrence.

D. Decaire

Decaire grabbed a team-leading 27 passes, collecting 363 yards for a 13.4 yard per catch average. Decaire came up with his best performances in important games, such as against Fulton. As a result of his clutch play, Decaire received 1st Team All-League honors.

Dave believes that both his and Tee's abilities helped one another, pointing out, " . . . they couldn't cover us all." He added that quarterback Steve Jermyn was a good one, able to pick out open receivers easily.

Summing up the season from a personal view Dave said simply, "It's been great!"

Coach Mike Clyne cited improved attitudes and hard work as the reasons for his squad's success over the second half of the season. Clyne said the highlight of the year was a season ending thrashing of Corcoran.

Matt Jabaut was the leading rusher. Jabaut was aided by Ed Doviak, Ed Sheffield, and Ryan Thompson. Quaterback Ted Kerley's play improved throughout the season. Defensively, tackle George Sweeting, defensive end Jeff Wright, and Ed Doviak enjoyed fine seasons.

The Frosh Gridders had a mediocre season, finishing with a record of 2-3-2. A scoreless tie against West Genesee opened the season, a harbinger of things to come. A twelve point victory over Solvay was the brightest moment of the year.

Girls Swim Team shows steady progress

The Girls Varsity Swim Team showed steady progress throughout the 1984 season. Coach Pat Flint was pleased with the improvement made by her swimmers in both their stroke techniques and times. The team's overall record also bettered the previous season's mark, a trend Flint believes will continue in upcoming years.

Individually, Mary Spencer made the All County Swim Team in the 100 meter backstroke. Allison Thomas received an Honorable Mention in the freestyle event. Other swimmers who placed in the top ten at the County Meet were Susan Funk (8th 100m. freestyle; 7th 400m. freestyle relay), and Beth Hemink (10th 50m. freestyle; 9th 100m. backstroke; 7th 400m. freestyle relay).

The 1984 Cross Country Team was once again led by a Purtell. However, the season marked the end of the Traci Purtell era (see feature), as she will now hand the reins over to younger sister Heather.

The Girls faired somewhat better than the Boys, winning three of their nine meets, while the Boys were winless. Coach Crisafulli commented that fewer candidates came out for the Boys' team than ever before. Contrastingly, the Girls' team had its largest turnout. Aside from an uneven turnout, Crisafulli echoed the words of track coach Jim McCaul, stressing the need for indoor track. "The other schools in our league have it. We fall further behind each year."

Individually, Traci Purtell enjoyed another terrific year and was named MVP for the fourth consecutive year. Other leading female performers included Heather Purtell, Missy Brown, Kristin Mosher, and Terry Bradshaw.

Second Team All-Leaguer Shawn Brown led the Boys' team and was selected MVP.

It appears the Cross Country program, evidenced by the strong individual performances of its members, is not lacking in potential. If the coaches' wishes are granted, and an indoor program is established, there is little doubt the harriers will produce winning results.

Purtell earns recognition

While it might be true that there are OHS athletes who receive greater recognition than Traci Purtell, none have accomplished as much as Traci has during her four years as an OHS harrier.

She capped off an unparalleled cross country career by placing 16th in the prestigious Kinney Championships, held in November in New York City. The field for this race includes top runners from twelve states, with the top eight finishers going on to compete in a national championship.

Purtell's achievements include being named to the First Team All-League for four consecutive years (1981-1984). During that same time span she qualified for the New York State Intersectional Championships four times. Traci has also been an All-League individual champion, and a Section III champion. She has finished second in the N.Y.S. Federation Championship, and won the Manhattan College Invitational. As a Junior, she made the Second Team All New York State. During her Senior year Traci "slumped" to Third Team All New York State

Traci considers being Section III champion as a Freshman to be her greatest achievement.

Despite all that she has done thus far, Lou Crisafulli, Purtell's coach of six years, believes that her accomplishments to date are only the tip of the iceberg. He believes that if Traci can combine her talent and desire with a good college running program she could become a national or even world class runner.

Traci says her goal has always been to be the best. She has lowered her times throughout her career, indicating that her coach's predictions are indeed within reach.

Purtell admits the lack of recognition received by the cross country team is upsetting. However, if Traci continues to race ahead as she has to date, her accomplishments can only serve as a goal for future OHS runners.

The 1984 OHS Gymnastics Team had a solid season, finishing with an 8-7 league record. Coach Lois Campbell said her squad was both dedicated and hard-working. The team set a record for team score with a total of 113.45 against Rome. Other key victories came at the expense of West Genesee and Auburn.

Karen Clyne enjoyed outstanding success, setting team records on the bars, the beam, in floor exercises, and in all-around events. She placed third on the bars at the OHSL meet and fifth on the beam at the Class A Sectionals. Pam Fontana and Vicki Mangano, both of whom qualified for Sectional competition, were cited by their coach as having excellent seasons. Clyne, Fontana, and Mangano, should form the solid nucleus of a squad of returning gymnasts for next season.

The OHS Girls Tennis Team finished with its best record in twenty years. Ironically, the team was the youngest OHS squad that Coach Stan Gosek had ever assembled.

A league realignment enabled the Buc netters to be one of the strongest teams in their division, as they no longer had to compete with traditional tennis powers such as F-M and Liverpool. Gosek said the team's only disappointment was that two individual matches were all that separated the team from a first place finish. (They finished third behind ESM and Henninger.)

Individually, Geraldine Lebaudy set a school record for best singles record, compiling a 7 and 3 mark at her first singles position. The second doubles team of Rashmi Seth and Leslie Morgan was also a record setter, winning seven of eight matches. The first doubles team of Stefanie Goodman and Mary Maniccia rounded out the individual record setters, ending their year with a record of 4 and 2.

Gosek is extremely optimistic about the future of the team, as nine of eleven starters will be returning next year.

"Buc bunch" boosts spirits

This winter, students at OHS responded to accusations that they lacked school spirit by forming the "Buc Bunch," a club dedicated to supporting OHS athletics. The main recipient of the Bunch's vocal support was the Boys' Basketball team. In addition to cheering, the Bunch also made signs and filled the air with confetti. Though the Buc Bunch was not ready to challenge the Oswego Great Lakers' "Zoo" as the loudest cheering section in Oswego, the club's presence was definitely felt, as attested to by members of the basketball team.

Increased fan support provides an emotional lift that can be the difference in a close game. Hopefully in coming years many OHS teams will benefit from the super fan support that the Buc Bunch provided.

Icers display solid effort

The 1984-85 Varsity Hockey Team's record failed to reflect the effort displayed by the squad. Coach Pete Sears felt the team maintained a great attitude throughout a season which proved to be difficult.

Defense was the primary problem for the Buc Icers during the first half of the season. However, the team's play improved during the latter part of the season. The team picked up victories against strong squads from Northwood Prep and Lake Placid Central.

Individually, Co-Captains Jerry and Tom Caraccioli, Joe Chesare (see feature), and Fred Donabella had fine seasons.

Chesare leads Icers

Though it was not the best of years for he Buc Icers, Junior Defenseman Joe hesare was one of the most consistent layers on the squad. He led his team in coring (25 points), a rarity for a defense- an. Chesare also earned All-Tournament onors at the Lake Placid Tournament.

Ironically, Chesare's greatest hockey uccess came last summer. As a Sopho- ore, Joe participated in the Empire tate Games as a member of the Central ockey Team. Chesare, playing on the rst defensive unit, helped the Central quad capture the bronze medal.

Chesare says he enjoys hockey because it is both fast-paced and physical. He modestly credits his parents and coaches for his personal success, commenting that if it were not for their time, dedication, and money he would not have advanced this far in hockey.

As far as the future is concerned, Joe hopes to play in the Empire State Games again this coming summer. Looking down the road to college he is interested in continuing his hockey career at either Clarkson, RIT, Plattsburg, or Oswego.

Strong defense aids Buc Hoopsters

Six victories in the final nine outings, a fourth place finish, and an 8-8 league record added up to a solid season of Boys' Varsity Basketball.

The Bucs qualified for the Sectionals by virtue of a win over the Central Square Redmen. In the opening round the team faced "A" Division League Champion Henniger. The Bucs, behind Steve Jermyn's 24 points, gave a determined effort before losing 66-55

Coach Bill Farden felt that this year's club was the best defensive unit he has had. The squad set records for fewest points allowed in a single game (31 against Central Square) and in a season (52.1 ppg.). Farden characterized the team as enthusiastic and hard working.

Individually, the Buc Hoopsters were once again led by center Steve Jermyn (see feature). The All-League performer led the team in scoring and rebounding, ending his career holding several team records. Fellow Co-Captain Tee Murabito played well at both ends of the court, finishing second in scoring and first in steals. Junior Mike Boyzuick was credited for his excellent defensive play.

Though Jermyn will not be wearing a Buc's jersey next season, nine lettermen will be returning which should keep the team competitive.

Steve Jermyn-OHS basketball star

1985 brought to a close the career of perhaps the finest basketball player ever to run the hardwood floor of Powers Gymnasium. Steve Jermyn, during his three year varsity career, was named to the First Team All-league twice, was the second leading scorer in league play in both his Junior and Senior years (19.6 ppg. in 1984-85 season), and established numerous team records.

Among Jermyn's records are the following: most points in a season, highest career point total, most field goals in a season, and highest career field goal percentage.

Steve began playing basketball when he was in fourth grade, in the Leprechaun League at St. Paul's School. He gained interest in the game as a result of his older brothers, both of whom played basketball in high school. Steve credits his brothers' help along with a great deal of hard work as major factors that led to his success.

Jermyn hopes to continue playing basketball in college (although football is also a possibility), and is currently being recruited by several Division II and III universities.

J.V.-Frosh hoops have mixed results

The JV Boys' Basketball Team began its season by winning the Ist Annual Oswego County Ice Breaker Tip-Off Tournament, defeating Mexico and Fulton for the championship. The rest of the season proved to be somewhat less successful, with wins over Fulton, Cazenovia, and Cortland, being the only other JV victories. It should be noted though that five of the games were lost by a total of 12 points. Captain Chris Pooler set a new JV record for most rebounds in a season (220), and highest per/game average (11 rebs./game). Guard Bill Favata and forward Steve Hart also had good seasons.

The Boys freshman Basketball Team continued to be a bright spot in the OHS basketball program, compiling an overall record of nine wins against four losses. Coach Ron Nix said the members of his team played exceptionally well as a unit and displayed a hard-working attitude on the court. He added that the competition within the league was tough, but that his team rose to the challenge, closing out its season on a seven game winning streak. Their strong performance provides hope for future JV accomplishments.

Individually, Andy Clary along with Co-Captains Jahan Islami, Jason Wallace, and Rick Pollard had good seasons.

Girls' JV Volleyball had a sensational season, winning the league title on the final day of the season by defeating the Henninger JV's, to finish with an 11-2 league record. Coach Mark Mirabito said his team lacked a "star" player, but featured instead a solid overall balance of intelligent and hard-working players. Captain Melanee Hannock, and Co-Captains Mary Ann Coughlin and Amy White provided the leadership that led the JV spikers to the best junior varsity record (16-2-0) in Oswego history.

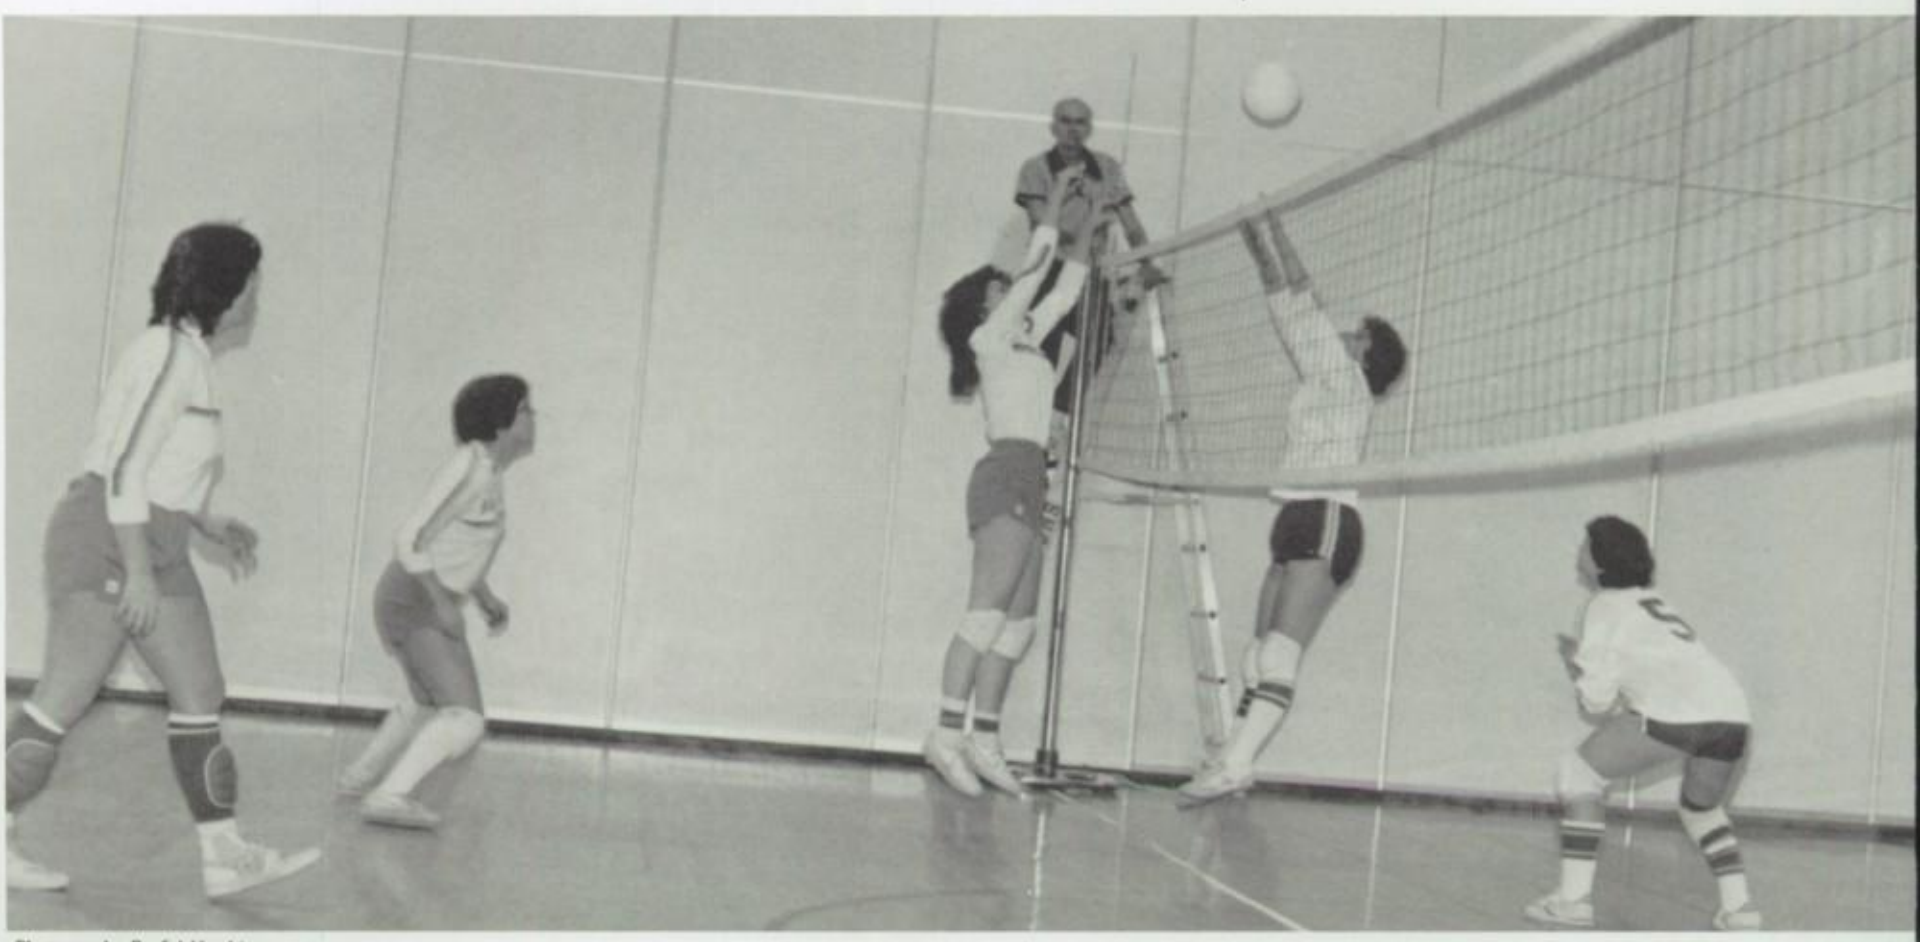
Spikers enjoy spectacular season



Photographs By Ed Hawkins

The 1984-85 Girls' Volleyball Team had a spectacular season, finishing with a sparkling league record of 13-3. The team reached the semi-finals of Sectional play before succumbing to the Warriors of Liverpool. Coach Kessler cited a potent offense as being the key ingredient in her team's success.

Among the team's accomplishments were a second place finish in the A Division (the team's best finish ever), and capturing the first place trophy in the Oswego Christmas Tournament. The squad featured an excellent combination of servers, setters, and hitters. Setters Tracy Taylor and Chris Palmitesso (All-League) were outstanding. The primary beneficiaries of the sets were hitters Donna Clark (see feature) and Sophomore Paula Collins. Palmitesso's rocket serve produced a team record 172 points, including 13 in one game, another record. Melody Wendt's serve, which relied on finesse instead of power, was very effective. Her unique serve completely baffled the Watertown netters, against whom she tied Palmitesso's record for points earned in one match (19). Co-Captain Debbie Morin was a superb all-around performer. Jill Thompson and Denise Byrne played well coming off the bench.

Though this year's team will graduate eight Seniors, OHS volleyball should continue to be successful in the near future, with members of the league champion jayvee squad ready to fill the void.

Clark excels once again

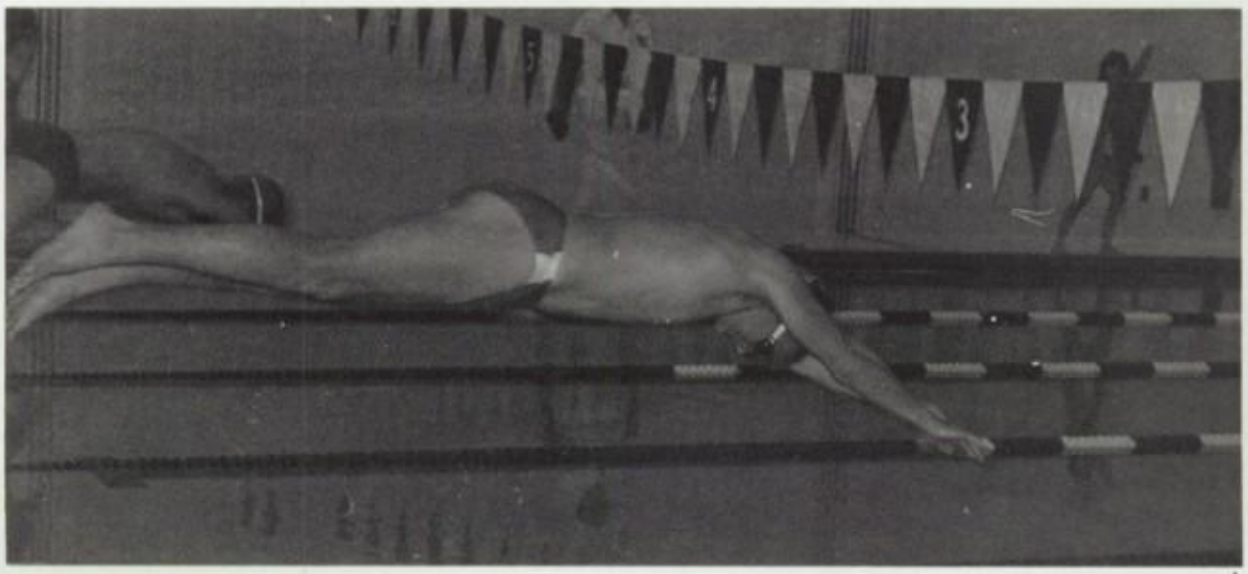
Few athletes have the ability to excel at one sport the way Donna Clark has at three. She has been named to All-League teams in softball, soccer, and volleyball. Aside from personal success, the teams on which she has played have all qualified for Sectional play. This past winter, true to form, Donna led the OHS spikers to their best finish ever.

Donna began playing volleyball competitively in Middle School. She has played on the Varsity level since her Sophomore year. The past two years Clark has been named to the First Team All-League. OHS volleyball coach Helen Kessler said her Co-Captain was one of the best hitters in the league, possessing a tremendous spike.

Donna enjoys playing volleyball because of its exciting, fast-paced style of play. She considers her strong points to be spiking and the less dramatic, but equally important, skill of setting.

Donna will most likely play soccer, her favorite sport, in college. Regardless of what sports she elects to play in the future, Donna will be remembered as one of the most outstanding all-around athletes to graduate from OHS.

Swim team has best season ever



A 12-5 record in 1985 was the best ever seen in the history of OHS swimming. The squad was rated sixth in Section III, indicative of the tremendous improvement made by the OHS program over the past three seasons.

First year coach Jim McCaul had nothing but praise for his team. He was extremely happy with the dedication and enthusiasm displayed by his swimmers.

Dave Hemink and Mike Spring (see feature) were First Team All-League performers. Receiving League Honorable Mention were Dan Funk and the "Spanish Import," Jose Garcia.

Other outstanding swimmers include freestylers Mike Engel and Joe McConkey, diver Vicki Mangano, Kent Krause (backstroke), and Larry Spring (freestyle/breaststroke).

Twenty OHS swimmers qualified for the Sectional Finals held at Nottingham High School, in Syracuse. In additon to Sectionals, Mike Spring and Hemink competed in the prestigious Eastern Interscholastic Championships in New Jersey. Hemink competed in the 100 yard breaststroke, an event for which he holds the school record with a time of 1:01.5, and the 50 yard freestyle. Spring, the top 500 yard freestyler in Sectiion III, competed in that event as well as the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard breaststroke.

Practice pays off for Spring

Mike Spring has spent the better part of his life in or near a swimming pool. He began when he was only seven years old under the guidance of his father, the SUNY Oswego swim coach. Over the years he has spent a great deal of time training and competing with both the OHS and SUCO swim teams.

This year, Mike's final one at OHS, has shown the dividends of his training. He broke two school and OHS pool records, establishing marks in the 500 yard freestyle (5:01.2), and the 200 yard freestyle (1:49.85), in addition to anchoring the record-setting 400 yard freestyle relay team. Spring has made the All- League team three consecutive years, and the All-Section team the past two.

Despite all his scholastic swimming honors, Spring considers his greatest accomplishment to be qualifying for the YMCA Nationals, held in Florida.

Mike plans to swim in college, setting for himself the lofty goal of becoming an All-American. Though it obviously is a difficult goal to attain, it appears he is primed for it.

Varsity grapplers post respectable record

The 1984-85 Varsity Wrestling Team had a very good season. This was particularly true within their league, where they finished with a 5-1-1 record. Veteran coach Elmer Akley said injuries prevented the team from achieving its potential. Nevertheless, several wrestlers had excellent campaigns.

Pat Purtell (personal record of 18-6-1), Paul Barlow (17-8), and Doug Armstrong (17-4) were named to the All-League team. Ken Johnson (19-6), and Matt Jabout (12-9-1) made the Second Team All-League. Rob Robinson and Rob Favata received Honorable Mentions.

Brian Manwaring in the 105 lb. class, and Matt Jabaut, in the 167 lb. class, set records for fastest falls with respective times of 19 and 51 seconds.

M.V.P. Darlene Delaney leads girls' varsity hoopsters

A thin roster and inexperience made for a rough season for the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team. Coach Campbell's "Seniorless" squad of eight players featured five Sophomores and three Juniors.

Leading the team was MVP Darlene Delaney, who established three individual scoring records. Delaney poured in 31 points from her guard position against Jamesville- Dewitt to set a single game scoring record, in addition to scoriing the most points in a season (224) and career (546), a total she will add to next season.

The girls ended their season on a winning note by defeating Cortland. With the entire roster returning next season, the girls feel that things can only get better for them.

JV hoopsters have outstanding season

The 1984-85 J.V. Girls' Basketball Team had one of the best seasons in the history of team. With a league record of 9-3 and an overall record of 10-4, the team tied for first in the league standings. The highlight of the year was the last game of the season against Cortland. By scoring 57 points, the team established a new school record. The success of the team was partly due to the excellent play of Angel Lagoe. She played outstandingly well throughout the season and as result, established two school J.V. records: most points in a game, 25, and most points in a season, 189. Coach William Fatiga was extremely pleased not only with the team's won-lost record, but also with the team's attitude. Of the team, he said, "They were the best group of kids I've had." Hopefully, the success of this team is an indication that, after many disappointing seasons, the varsity team will be a contender for the league crown.

A reflection on . . .

WINNING . . .

Through the

Reflecting on the athletic events of the past year, one realizes the paradoxical creature that sport truly is. For every winner, there was a loser; for every noisy locker room celebration, there was the silent anguish of bitter disappointment nearby; for every team that realized an impossible dream, there was one that lived through its worst nightmare.

At OHS, this was the year of the female athlete. The Girls' softball, soccer, tennis, and volleyball programs all enjoyed unparalleled success. Though many of the Girls' teams suffered misfortunes in the Sectional Playoffs, their school and league accomplishments remain undiminished.

The Boys' teams did not meet with the same level of success as the girls, as evidenced by their disappointing records. The usually strong hockey and soccer teams fell on hard times in 1984-85. However, the often overlooked golf and swim squads had tremendous seasons, marked by both team and individual accomplishments.

The year marked the final performances of some of OHS' finest athletes and coaches. Among those who will be missed next year are Steve Jermyn, Donna Clark, Paige Maurer, Traci Purtell, and Boys' Soccer coach Tom Doran. At the same time, OHS opened its doors to such outstanding new comers as Todd Travis, Kristina Lenahan, Geralding LeBaudy, and Jason Mantaro.

Thus, as another class of athletes departs OHS, a new group begins to emerge, hoping to improve upon the accomplishments of their predecessors. Though the names are new, the goals remain the same, the triumphs and defeats no less significant, as one class of athletes mirrors another — a continuing reflection.

1. The Varsity Baseball Team celebrates following a home run against Liverpool. 2. Members of the Boys' Varsity Soccer Team are psyched about the events on the field. 3. Keeper Joey Benzing stares at the back of the net in dejection, while Sweeper Noel Francisco appeals to a "higher authority", following an opponent's goal. 4. New teachers abound in '84

The teaching staff sported several new faces when school opened in September 1984. Departments which gained new or additional staff were English, Mathematics, Science, Business, Physical Education, Music, Foreign Languages, Learning Resources, and Driver Education.

The only new member of the English department this year was Ms. Catherine McCullen, a graduate of LeMoyne College. As a student at LeMoyne, Ms. McCullen was a staff co-ordinator in her residence hall. This was her first teaching position.

Mrs. Marilyn Lochner joined the staff as Supervisor of Mathematics and Computer Education. Prior to this time she had taught at Pulaski High School. In Oswego her duties do not bring her into direct classroom contact with students, but she works with administrators and teachers in developing computer curricula throughout the school district.

Also new to the Mathematics program was Ms. Darlene Ward. Ms. Ward, a graduate of SUC at Brockport, previously taught at Canastota, New York before coming to Oswego.

Two individuals were hired new in the Science department. Mr. Allan Brumstead previously taught at Lansing High School, South of Auburn. OHS Alumna Sharon Bond (1980), a 1984 graduate of SUC at Oswego, coached the Varsity and JV Football Cheerleaders, in addition to her teaching responsibilities.

More additions were made to the Business department than to any other. This was due in large measure to both increased student demand for the new data processing and word processing courses and to changing requirements in Business Education which have been established by the State Education Department.

New to the program were Ms. Linda Jones, formerly a teacher at Proctor High School in Utica; Miss Mary Beth Maroney (OHS '80), in her first teaching position; Ms. Suzanne McLean, and Mrs. Judith Pierce. Miss Maroney also served as coach for the Wrestling Cheerleaders.

Coach James McCaul, a familiar face to many of us, returned to the Physical Education staff after a several year hiatus at Riley School. Coach McCaul, who had taught at OHS in the mid-1970's, created quite a sensation with his all-weather, all-purpose bermuda shorts. On the most blustery days of winter, we all knew that summer was at hand when we watched Coach McCaul heading out to board a shuttle bus to the ice rink or the armory. Coach McCaul also led the Varsity Tankers to an outstanding season.

During the Fall term, Mr. Lisk participated in a sabattical leave. Filling his teaching position in the Music department was Mr. Nicholas Costello. Mr. Costello, who had completed his student teaching at OHS last year, in addition to teaching instrumental music, assumed direction of the Symphonic Band.

Ms. Susan Piasecki joined the Foreign Languages staff as a Spanish teacher. She also assumed the responsibilities of advising the Spanish Club and the French Club. Because of her efforts, this was the first year in several years in which there was a functioning French Club.

Joining the faculty as Learning Resources teacher was Miss Trudy Rapp. Miss Rapp, a graduate of SUC at Potsdam, had previously taught in the Albany area.

Lastly, Mr. William Reeser joined the Driver Education staff. Mr. Reeser, a native of Northern New York, had previously taught in Roscoe, near the Pennsylvania border, and prior to that in Mississippi.

Mr. Joseph faces challenging year

I Mr. Joseph performs "Leon Redbone."

Mr. Joseph, a member of the OHS music department since 1980, enjoys his work both during the regular school day and long after it has ended for others. This is true even in the face of increased responsibilities this year due to the absence of Mr. Lisk for the first semester of the 1984-85 school year.

He was placed in charge of this year's marching band. What he enjoyed most was seeing the kids improve day by day on an all new show with an all new staff. He also worked with the wind ensemble instead of the symphonic band. He enjoyed the more challenging literature and the satisfaction of seeing the kids that made it.

In comparing the extra-curricular activities and the in-school programs he said that he enjoys the in-school more, but he does like the extra-curricular for one main reason: because it is voluntary, he is sure that the kids want to be there.

When asked how the music program has changed he answered with one word, "pride." He feels the kids now look forward to going to band. He also says that the pride spills over into the marching band, and has brought the symphonic band up to a higher level.

Mr. Joseph feels the music program contributes greatly to a student's education. The students have learned to work with large and small groups. It also teaches commitment, discipline, values, behavior, creativity, and helps students explore their emotions.

You can be sure Mr. Joseph is dedicated to his job, because when asked what he would have been if not a music director, he could not answer. He has always wanted to be involved in music. He loves the dedication of the musicians, but most important is his love of working with people.

Shambo promotes new computer system

Mr. Shambo, one of the Computer Math teachers, is anything but new to computers. In school he enjoyed math and physics and got into computers when he entered Albany State. He took programming courses in Basic, Fortran, Pascal, and some Assembler. He then transfered to Oswego State, graduated, and became an electrician at St. Regis, repairing their computers as well as other electronic devices.

After his electronics job, he went into teaching Basic Computer Courses. He was hired at OHS as a math teacher and then became system manager of the Digital System.

Mr. Shambo feels that the system at OHS will prepare students who are seriously interested in computers for college and business environments, and allow them to feel comfortable with computers and weed out the ones who thought the course was going to be easy and found it to be more difficult.

Mr. Shambo also feels that the future of computers here at OHS will be ever expanding due to more computer languages becoming available. He stated that eventually it will be in every classroom for help in any subject area. He also says that more and more teachers will be using it for grades and classwork such as tests, quizzes, homework, etc..

Mr. Shambo has realistic goals for his students and shows this by saying, "Hopefully all students will become computer literate when they leave OHS if not computer proficient."

Busy year for Mr. Sterio

Mr. David Sterio's (OHS '77) first year at OHS was a busy one. His duties included managing the theatre and advising the Junior class.

As theatre manager, Mr. Sterio maintained a busy schedule. He developed and maintained the theatre schedule, which consisted of school, community, and private productions. Another duty was to develop a budget and maintain the supplies inventory.

In addition to managing the theatre, Mr. Sterio trained and supervised the tech crew (see related story elsewhere in book).

Mr. Sterio is not new to theatre productions. He held the position of assistant to the producer in both the Summer Music Theatre at SUCO and the Oswego Opera Theatre. Additionally, as an undergraduate, he majored in music and was actively involved in the music program as a student at OHS as well. Therefore, when the position of theatre manager became available, he was immediately drawn to it.

Along with his responsibilities in the theatre Mr. Sterio held those of Junior Class Advisor. As advisor, Mr. Sterio played a vital role in planning many Junior Class activities. His ideas and assistance helped make the Junior Variety Show and Junior Prom memorable events.

Although not a member of the teaching staff as such, Mr. Sterio has become a familiar figure to many of us throughout the year.

Mark Mirabito: leader and counselor

The staff of the 1985 Paradox is proud to announce the dedication of this year's volume to Mr. Mark Mirabito for his dedication to the students of the Oswego High School.

Mr. Mirabito joined the Health department in 1982, after teaching for three years at Bishop Cunningham High School. Since then he has been involved as an advisor or coach for many organizations.

His first extra-curricular assignment was that of Junior Clas Advisor. This was a major undertaking for a new teacher because it was his duty to make sure that several major activities were successful, the most important, and most expensive, being the Junior Prom.

Under his guidance, in 1984 the Junior Class moved the Prom to Wine Creek Inn from its traditional setting in Powers Gym. The prom was judged to be one of the most enjoyable and elegant ever given in O.H.S. history. Other major duties that he headed were the Buc Weekend festivities, and the Junior Variety Show.

Other accomplishments recorded by Junior Class groups during his tenure as Advisor include, in 1983, the establishment of the record for most money made for a variety show and then, in 1984, the establishment of a second attendance record by filling the Theater to capacity during all three performances.

In January 1984 he took over the job of Director of Student Activities. In this job Mr. Mirabito assumed responsibility for the Student Council as well as the scheduling of all student activities at the High School.

Due in part to a shortage of funds, in 1984 the Student Council began what it hoped would become a traditional activity in future years, the Winter Sports Festival, a weekend where students could form their own teams and compete. The four events this year were Indoor Soccer, Basketball, Volleyball, and, at the suggestion of Mr. Mirabito, Wiffle Ball.

As a coach, Mr. Mirabito has served as Middle School Girls Volleyball coach as well as J.V. Girls Volleyball. His 1984-85 volleyball team, with a league record of 12-2 (overall record Of 16-2) were O.H.S.L. Champions.

It can definitely be said that Mr. Mirabito is dedicated to the students here at O.H.S., so it gives us pleasure to dedicate this yearbook to him for all of his services. It is our belief that this dedication is especially deserving when consideration is given to this year's theme, "Reflections." Mr. Mirabito's sense of dedication to us in reflective of his role as leader and counselor for all of us.

Reflections

Dim images brighten
It is the now and suddenly the yesterdays
Past moments are recaptured
I recall . . . . .
the careless days
the noise of learning
I laugh . . . I weep
the excitement
the thrill
come in to focus
I remember the people
my friends
always at my side to rejoice with success to cry at failure
confiding planning
dreaming . . .
The farewell that must be comes with the hopes and promises of the future
Bright images dim . . my yesterdays fade
smiling I return to the now
But only to reflect back on the times I remember as my high school days
